tw/ grooming, pedophilia, manipulation, physical abuse, mentions of suicide

This document was made to bring attention to and spread awareness of the terrible actions of the person who goes under the name Reshiram/Iylwrychi. (Other aliases include YGYoshi, Swithical, Krakence, Sprinkle, Mihroh, Miro, Mirodergy, cafesito, Clawprint, Clawprinttrove, ram3). These actions include grooming MULTIPLE minors, sexual/romantic relationships with minors, lying about his age to minors, threatening suicide, physical abuse, and manipulation. For all intents and purposes we will refer to him by his real name, Sam.

TL:DR: Sam groomed and manipulated multiple victims across the span of well over 5 years with many being underage. Among the methods of manipulation he used were suicide baiting, guilt tripping and love bombing. He also physically abused family members on separate occasions, namely his sister and mother.

This document is written by Diamond, Reticent, and Shirou, with the support of numerous other victims and bystanders who wished to stay anonymous.

Before Reading: We do NOT condone doxxing/harassment of individuals involved. In particular, his family members. They are innocent in this. We also want to state, in the name of safety, that the commonly-spread previous “doxx” of Sam, listing an address in Grand Rapids, MI, is NOT the same Sam. The people who reside at that address are completely random people. The Samuel that resides there is NOT the same person as the Sam in this document. Please do not attempt to harass them.

Sam is a top osu!mania, (https://osu.ppy.sh/users/7794488) Quaver, (https://quavergame.com/user/608?mode=1), SDVX player (SV-2328-0019), and former Geometry Dash player who just won grand finals playing in the osu!mania world cup, a big tournament that gave him a platform for thousands of people to see. Because of his high-level position and positive perception in the community, it gives him an opportunity to create a power dynamic where his status allows him to find and target victims much easier. It is a shame that this is being written and finished during the tournament, but it is imperative that he loses access to his platform and status to prey on anyone anymore. This doc will go into detail with evidence and explanations for the horrible actions that Sam has been hiding for years. This document was written by 3 people, all have been involved with Sam and have experienced and witnessed his disgusting actions firsthand.

Sam is 23 years old (born 8/20/2002), and has been grooming for years with multiple victims, some as young as 14.

This situation is urgent, and spreading awareness and reposting is critical because Sam is going to an in-person rhythm game event known as Mistake On The Lake 6 (MOTL6). People need to be aware of Sam's actions and avoid him so that there are no future victims, not to mention one of Sam's victims is also attending this event.

EDIT: Sam is registered for MOTL6 under the name “ram3h”, below are screenshots of a conversation between Sam and Reti/Augie, where he uses a very similar name.

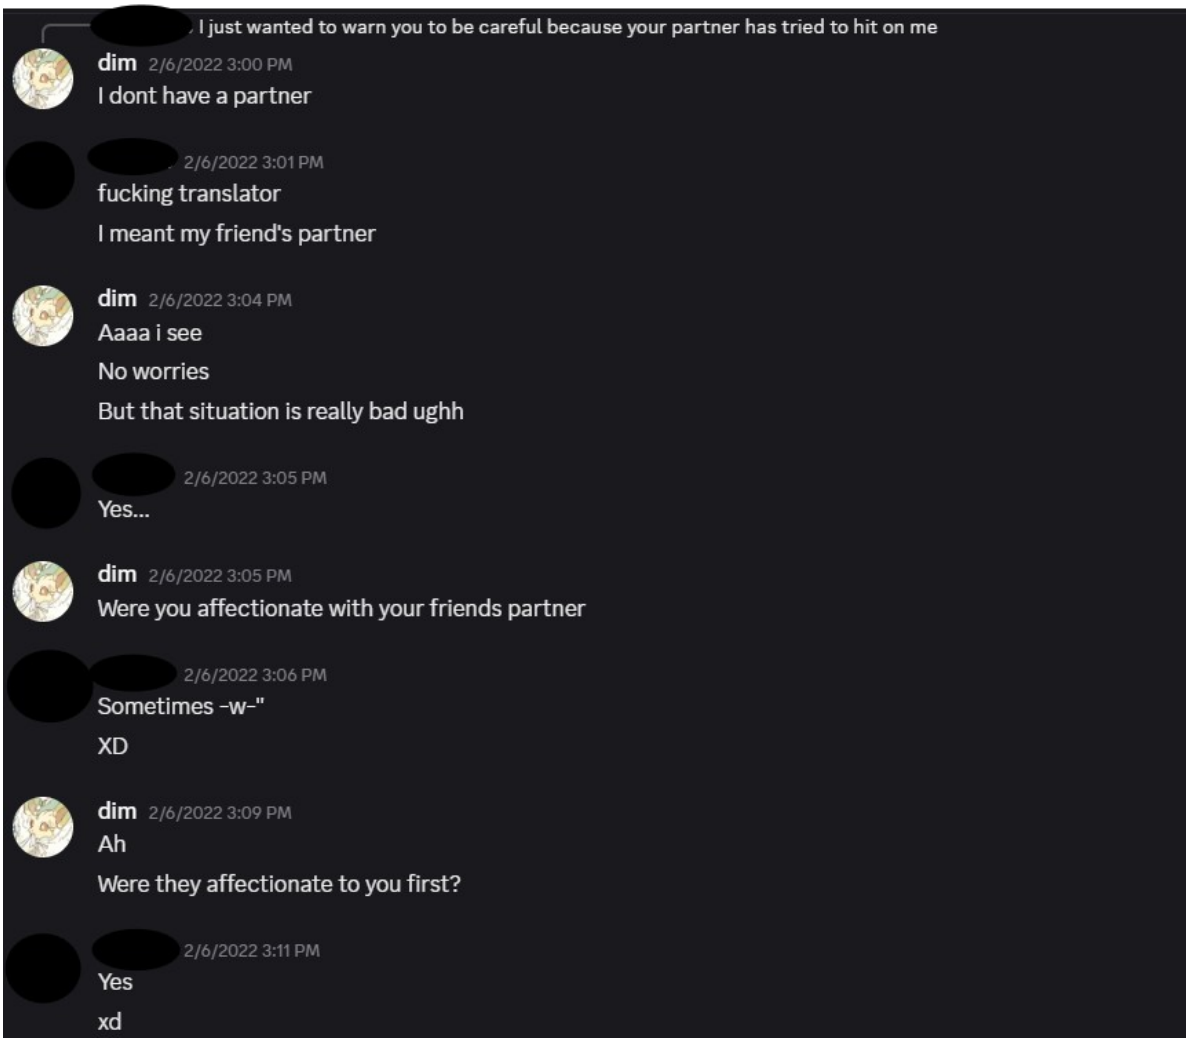
Dim/DiamondParagon:

Grooming minors, lying about age

Sam has groomed minors multiple times, some cases even occurred as recently as this year. This section will go over these cases and show how little control he has over his sexual desires, as well as go into some of the manipulation tactics he uses on his victims.

The following evidence I (Diamond) witnessed and experienced firsthand.

Although there are multiple instances of Sam inappropriately talking to minors, this one still angers me to this day due to him lying about his age to fool the victim. These conversations take place from January-February of 2022. At the time I was 16, and had been very close friends with Sam for 2 years up to this point. One day, a mutual friend of Sam and I brought up the fact that Sam (who was 19) was trying to hit on him (who was 14), where he mistakenly thought I was in a relationship with Sam.



[redacted] I just wanted to warn you to be careful because your partner has tried to hit on me

The victim then shows me the initial conversations he had with Sam upon adding him.

The victim then shows me an extremely questionable message that Sam had sent him. Keep in mind this message is already AFTER Sam asks for the victims age, and lies about his own. The victim asks for Sam's age, and Sam replies that he’s 15, when in reality he was 19 and already in a relationship with someone else.

After I realize what's happened, I immediately confront Sam with everything the victim had told me, enraged that someone so close to me would do something like this, lying about his age to a minor despite being supposedly "disgusted" with actions like these. The worst part is that he acts like he had no control over this situation and tries to shift the blame to the minor, supported by him saying "i never tried to ensue anything sexual and ive always never knew how to say no." This statement was blasphemous, as he's 19 years old talking to a 14 year old, and the victim had told me from the start that Sam had been affectionate with him first. When I confront Sam about this, he plays the victim, telling me to stop because he’s having a panic attack.

Deleted User 2/6/2022 3:47 PM

Deleted User 2/6/2022 3:47 PM
I never tried to ensue anything sexual but they did and Ive always never knew how to say no
dim 2/6/2022 3:47 PM
That makes it even worse
Deleted User 2/6/2022 3:47 PM
Becuase this stuff happens all the time to me whenever I talk to people What am I supposed to talk about in regards to this
dim 2/6/2022 3:48 PM
Sam youre 19 you should know not to say this stuff to a 14 year old
Deleted User 2/6/2022 3:49 PM
That was the one thing I said and I regretted it but I really just didn't know what to say in the moment and I never do
Please stop
I'm having a panic attack

I should’ve cut Sam off right there, realizing that there is no way to excuse these actions, but he instead manipulated the situation to turn himself into a victim, saying that the 14 year old was pressuring him into a sexual situation. Another important detail to note; He says that in situations like those he always feels pressured to talk in a sexual/affectionate way, which insinuates that he is unable to control his urges, even around minors. My biggest regret is that I didn’t do something about it at that moment.

Unfortunately, at this time I was young and naive, as well as extremely close with him. I really wanted to believe in him and believe that he would never do something like this again, but I was wrong.

Deleted User 2/6/2022 3:50 PM
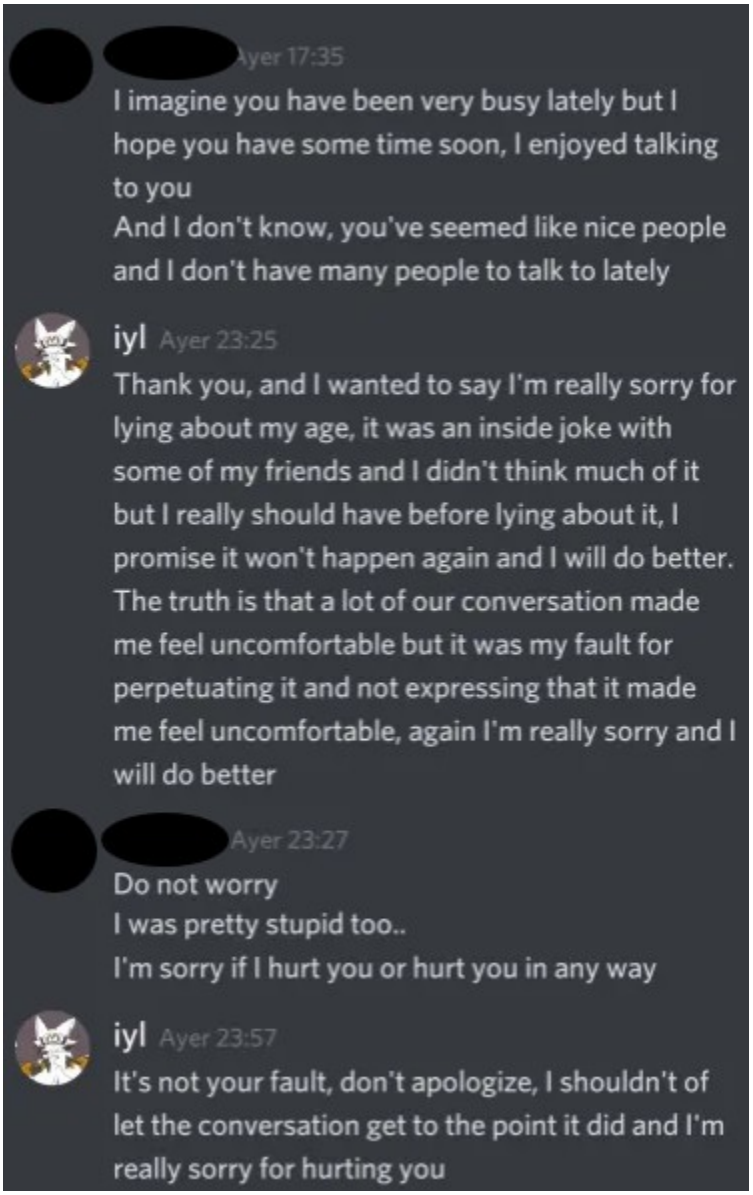
But whenever I end up talking to someone like that it always gets to me and I feel pressured to talk like that

Sam apologized to the victim for his behavior, only AFTER I had pressed him about it. He claims he lied about his age because “it was an inside joke” which doesn’t make any sense at all, he’s just trying to excuse his actions. You can see his manipulation tactics shine through when he says “the truth is that a lot of our conversations made me feel uncomfortable but it was my fault for perpetuating it and not expressing that it made me feel uncomfortable.” If he was trying to be genuine and apologize, this statement is entirely useless. Sam is a grown adult and is attempting to pin the blame on a 14 year old. If he really felt uncomfortable with the conversation, he should’ve ended it as soon as it started.



[redacted] Ayer 17:35
I imagine you have been very busy lately but I hope you have some time soon, I enjoyed talking to you

iyl Hoy 5:53
It was inappropriate nevertheless
I'm probably going to delete this account now and take a long time away to better myself so something like this doesn't happen again, again
I'm sorry for hurting you and wasting your time

What’s weird here is that after this interaction happens, he immediately deletes the account. He claims to do this to “better himself” so a situation like this never occurs again, but it just feels extremely strange to do this right after being caught, considering he has deleted MANY accounts before. I have screenshots below of multiple accounts that he has talked to me on and deleted during our few years of friendship (with proof of it being him on each account). A lot of times he would tell me that he was just trying to get away from people or clear his mind, however with the amount of times it happened, it made me suspicious if it was truly just him trying to better himself/maintain his closed off status in the community. While this could have been the case, it became apparent with time he was only trying to cover up his tracks from similar mistakes. This unfortunately is not the only instance of grooming Sam has done.

Possibly
In a good way
As in
The personality i have right now is very limited Due to the amoutn of pain i am in
And the things that have happend to me
But if i were to find a way to leave that all behind
It would feel like i can have a full persona again

(this convo will be important later on)

As I stated earlier, there were multiple grooming victims, with another victim being myself.

My friendship with Sam started back in early 2020, I was 14 and he was 17. He had joined a mutual mania server I was in and we became friends through a group chat I was added to. For about a year and a half we were just friends, nothing more, however, during the beginning of when we started being friends, we would be flirtatious with each other, saying weird romantic things to each other even though we had just met, but it wasn't serious. It was kind of like we were just roleplaying as a joke?? I cringe saying that now, but at the time I didn't see the problem, I was 14 and dumb and was just online on discord all day because of covid. Looking back at it now is quite alarming.

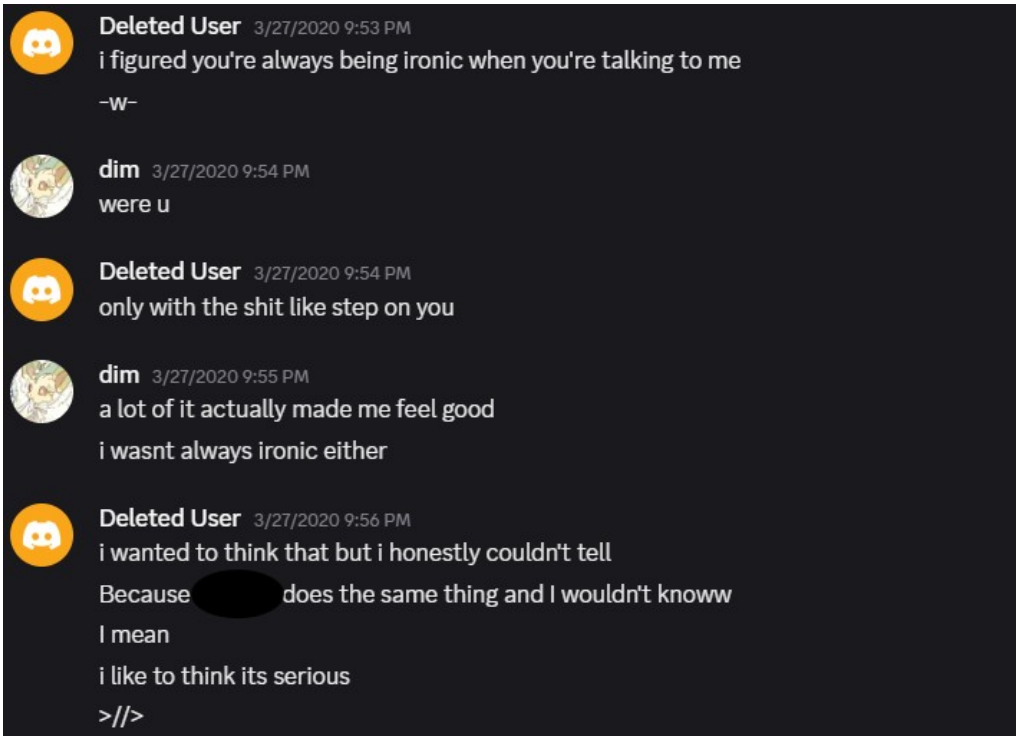
I did reciprocate the flirtatious feelings back, but with him being 3 years older than me, he obviously should’ve never started the conversations let alone shut them down whenever they happened. The screenshot below concerns me because it went from ”ironic roleplay” to something more serious. The fact that he can be extremely flirtatious/sexual with someone he just met who is also 3 years younger than him is another sign of him having no control of his sexual desires.



Deleted User 3/27/2020 9:53 PM

After these weird initial flirtatious and sexual conversations, those convos faded as we got to learn more about each other and got closer as friends. As this happened, the flirtatious/sexual messages began to stop. During this time period, I would get to know a lot more about Sam, and one day, he just exploded and said he was gonna off himself. Mentions of suicide below.

It's the only way at this point
Everyone has a moral understanding to be a good person, no
And people who do not understand that are considered mentally ill
There is no one who actively does not want to be a good person and does not have a history of mental illness in any way
I'm bene told that I'm a bad person and I'm unable to fullyunderand why after evaluating my actions
So I'm mentally ill
But I can't get help for it I've been In and out of the system for my entire life for me tall illness and nothing has changed
So the only solution that leaves me is to kill myself
I cna try my very best but that isn't good enough
That's what I've been doing and it's clearly not good enough
Any sort of self esteem I've built up over however many months just went down the drain

See i was gonna say your and correct you and call you retarded
And tell you to go back to kindergarde
Nad ask you if you dropped out of preschool

I included this because this was so out of the blue and because it will provide context to some of the questionable behavior he has later. He had never exploded like this and it was such a small argument. I did my best to help him through his episode, and eventually everything was back to normal, but this interaction changed things. He went from a friend whom I was never serious with at all to him venting to me and literally saying that he was gonna kill himself and after this point, I would come to learn some of Sam’s many mental disorders and how fucked up his life was. We would remain close for another month or so before he would disappear without telling me anything. We started talking again in 2020/the start of 2021, and I began to learn more of his mental illnesses when he mentioned this:

I cant find anything else that can explain how I feel
Today is not a good time to talk to me because I feel sensitive today and also just not here mentally
But I don't want to worry you for too long I don't know when I'll wake up and I'll feel less emotionally involved
I prefer to have my emotions flattened
Becuase its when I can speak and convey words the best
But I could be saying these things and completely disagree with all of this by the next time I wake up
I dont have a personality because it changes ever so slightly every day
I dont own a consciousness
It's hard to explain these things because my explanations change very frequently and I can't explain throguh words what my thoughts are and how I feel
But none of yesterday was you

The context of this was that we had a small argument over some server that we were in and he got uncomfortable, then went off on me. He then proceeded to tell me he has schizophrenia and that he wakes up a different person every day, and I forgave him, because it’s not something he could control. The reason I keep bringing up his mental illnesses is because he will blame his wrongful actions on his illnesses instead of taking accountability.

OKAY IM NOT TALKING SERIOUSLY ANYMORE

I felt bad for Sam's situation, I wanted to be a friend he could rely on so I started hanging out a lot more with him. This is when I would say he became my best friend, as we would always be in calls, playing random roblox games and minecraft, and talking about random stuff. Below are pictures on my twitter from years ago, just for proof of this.

Over this time period I was pretty much hanging out with Sam everyday, we were always calling and we had grown as close as two friends could get. During this time period as well, I had developed slight feelings for him as well, but I would refrain from saying anything about them due to the age gap (16 and 19), and the fact that he was already in a relationship at the time. Unfortunately, neither of those things stopped him from becoming sexual with me randomly. We were in a call, and he was just playing mania, and he randomly initiated an NSFW conversation out of nowhere. Keep in mind, there was no mention of anything sexual or romantic between us before this point.

CANS YOU SEND ME PORN

I don’t know why he asked that, but because of my feelings at the time, I obliged to his request and sent some. I was really confused and didn’t know why he wanted this because we had been best friends for so long, but then he insisted for me to send more. Then after that he started acting extremely affectionate and sexual with me. I was blinded by my feelings to realize what was truly happening to me.

I assumed that because of all the sexual stuff he started with me, it meant he was into me too, so a few days later I confessed my feelings to him. He didn’t really give me a direct answer, at first he said he was too old, which was right and he should’ve turned me down, but then said that nothing was ruined by my confession and he continued to act affectionately and sexually with me.

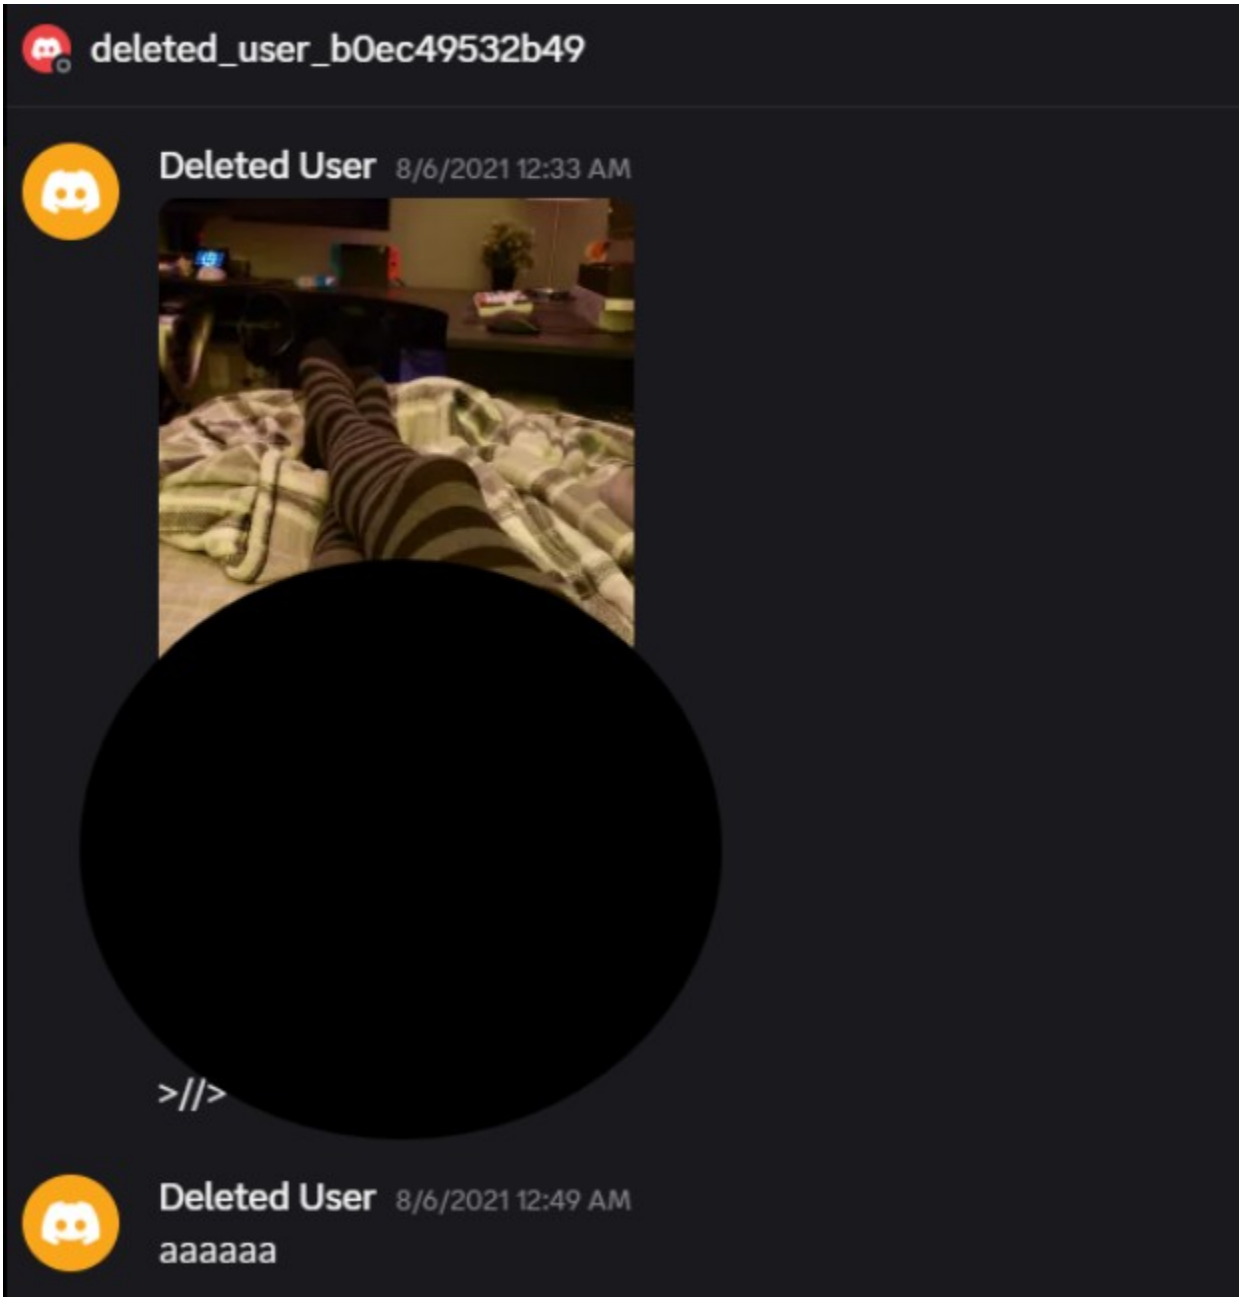
Deleted User 8/1/2021 10:04 PM
Nothing is ruined sweetie

He never actually ended up saying yes or no to a relationship, but just assured me that he wanted to continue to act this way. The important thing here is that he was able to make me think that we were in a relationship, but he didn’t explicitly label it, which he will bring up later. This was a manipulation tactic that he uses against me.



The intimacy and affection continue, and a few days later he sends me explicit nudes of himself, and I show him explicit pictures of myself as well. Keep in mind, this is only days after the first sexual interaction we had. We would continue this pattern of affection and sexual encounters on video calls pretty much everyday. We would routinely masturbate together, and in my head I thought it was all fine because this was the relationship I wanted to have. He would break up with his partner he was with at the time, who at this point I didn’t even know were still dating. We were pretty much inseparable, we would call every second that we were both free, and knowing sam's bad past, I became really happy to be someone for him in his life.

What I didn’t realize was Sam's ulterior motives. The “relationship” would be pretty good for a few weeks before he admitted to his addiction to sex and his lack of self control to be sexual with other people. He first says there is “one or two people” that he flirts with platonically, and then minutes later he confesses to being sexual with multiple other people, and even having sex with someone else irl. I wouldn’t have made this doc if all he did was cheat on me, the bigger part to worry about is that he’s a compulsive liar who is unable to control his sexual urges. As seen earlier, he is perfectly fine with lying about his age to a minor, and him telling me that he’s unable to control his sexual desires around other people is unacceptable.

I wanted to open up about myself more but these things are beyond embarrassing and very personal for me to talk about
Like I've literally have never told anyone else about them
But I feel so guilty withholding anything from you because I feel like you deserve everything
And that I should be actively trying relaly hard for you when it feels like I just do nothing all day
Like fucking hell today I couldn't even respond to your dms
There are one or two other people I flirt with platonically and saying and thinking about it makes me feel extremely guilty because I'm not open about that with you, I know with some people that is not a problem but I have been embarrassed to tell you about it
And it also makes me feel like shit because I trust you would tell me if you were doing the same, yet I'm over here doing it and not even telling you about it when I have no excuse to be withholding that from you
I think if we wanted a relationship we would need to set very solid and clear boundaries, I am just very used to doing this
I've been doing this with people for a very long time especially since I've been with [redacted]on and off for so long and I can't go to him for emotional comfort, I end up going to other people
That sorta leads into the second thing and I will be upfront and say that I'm probably a very horny person in general
It's something I don't make obvious much but I also have had an issue all my life where I can't get off to the same thing twice
At first this was only an issue with porn and I could just find something else but now I'm demisexual and that means I have to find other people I have a close connection to in order to feel sexual gratification
This also hasn't been an issue because admittedly I do not trust of value [redacted]enough after he cheated on me to not do it again
Which I guess is a really bad thing for me to do regardless since I have been straight up lying to him

There were a few people I have been lewd towards on and off, I remember one time I literally fucking accidently screenshared a lewd conversation between me and [redacted] in a vc with you and [redacted] and I was so embarrassed because I 100% knew you saw it and read like half of it
I was so fucking embarrassed
Thank God [redacted] was deafened or else my life could've been over right then and there
Recently this has also been something I've been trying to find some other way to fix that doesn't involve directly lewding with people but the fact I have this issue in the first place makes me feel so fucking guilty
And it probably comes off wrong since I haven't been horny around you at all lately, I was lewd to you so much and now I'm not and I'm like that with everything
If I burn out from one person or whatever image I'm continously getting off to I literally can't do it to the same thing for a week or more
I dont think I'm explaining well
I'm not sure
This is all so embarrassing and I feel guilty even talking about it because I'd rather not hurt you over and over again
But I can't handle lying to you so much Like it's gotten to the point where sometimes I just want to lewd myself to something and I feel like I can't tell you
And it makes me feel so guilty everytime I have to lie to have some time all ne
It's basically a dice roll everytime I get horny what I am attracted and turned on by and sometimes it's porn that makes me think of someone or something close to me and sometimes it's a direct person that I feel very close to
And this hasn't been an issue except for the fact that I know you dont want me to be doing these things and it makes me feel so guilty because I genuinely don't know how to stop
It makes me cry so much at night because I'm being a horrible person and I can't even do anything about it
And I know you believe in me but how is anything going to get better if I'm not even changing anything in what I'm doing
I'm just going to keep doing it whether I want to or not Even then I feel like I look really bad to you now and I want to say that the sexual things I do regardless of who it's with are completely separate from what we have and how I feel towards you

When I do it with you it feels so good and my heart feels really warm
I guess this is sort of off topic but I'm generally a top but I love and care about you so much that I would do anything even if it didn't directly pleasure me it turns me on a lot That's how I know when I found someone when I feel comfortable with anything sexually
I feel extremely guilty when I end up having temporary fantasies about other people Because I only want to do it with you
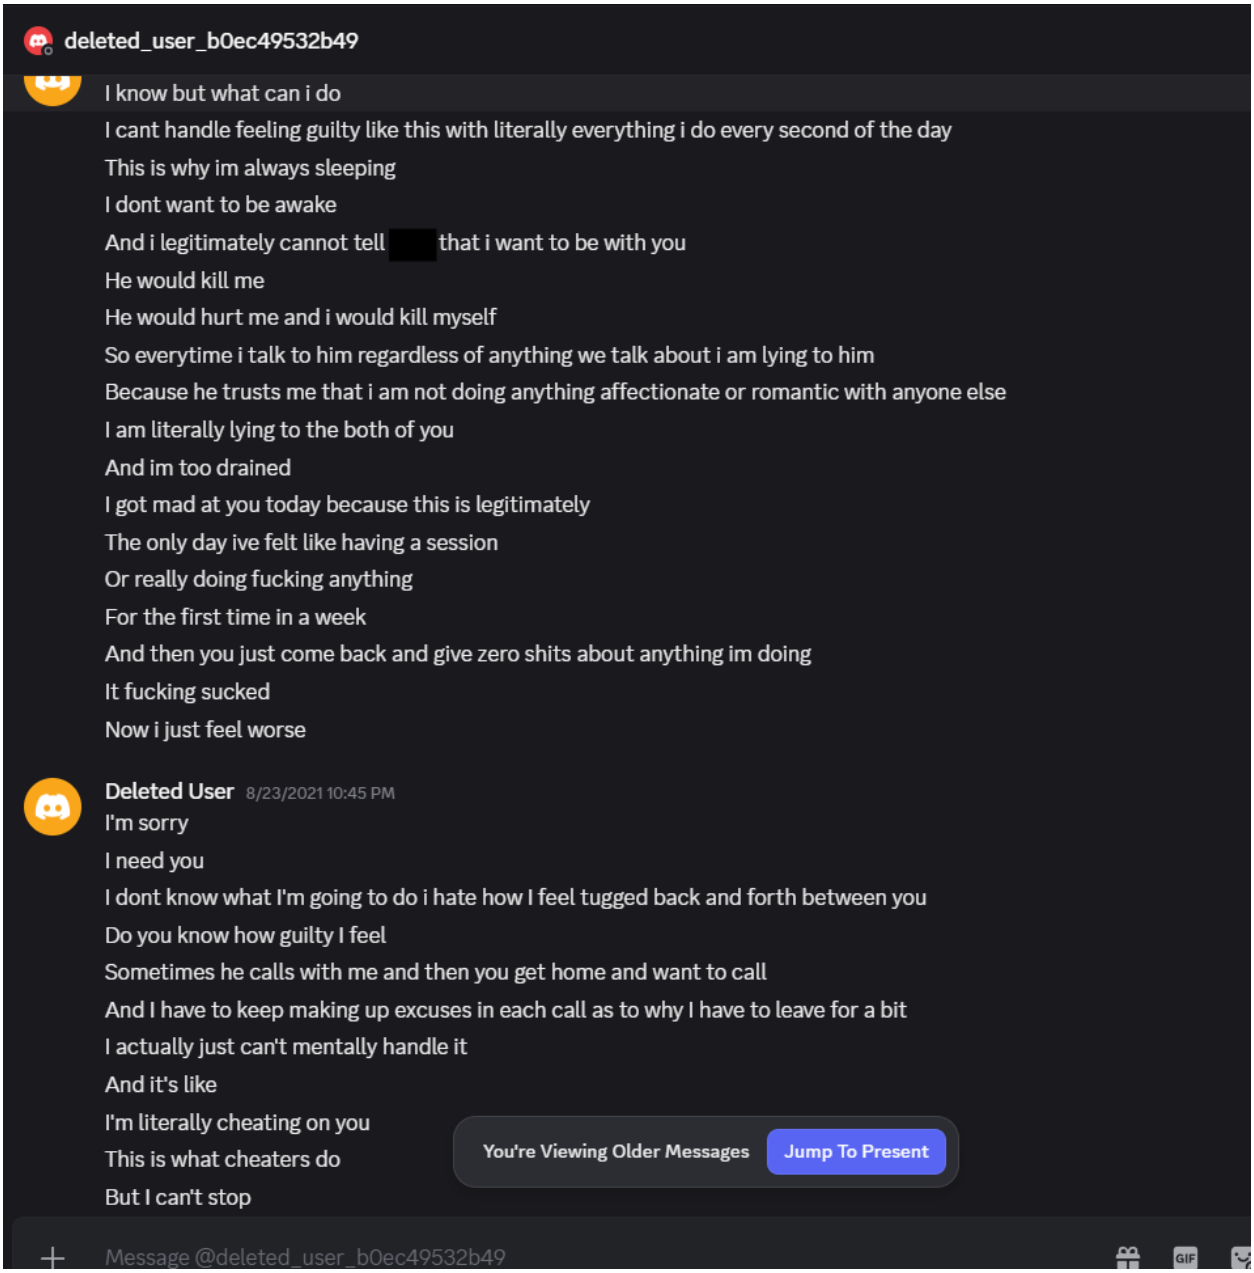
And I don't know how to fix it or if I even can because this is a problem I've had ever since I was younger
I hate doing things when I know it would hurt you if you knew what I was doing
I'm not used to not doing stuff like this because I did it when I was on and off with [redacted]
Because he cheated on me and that means he completely disregarded how I would feel if I knew what he was doing
For two whole months
And I never even did anything to him
So I've been doing it back to him for so long and I'm so scared of being caught
At this point it's more like I want to leave him and logically that's the correct answer but at the same time I want to meet up and be close to him because it feels good to be close to what I'm familiar and comfortable with
So I don't feek as guilty when thinking about what Im hiding from him
It's just an issue that I'm so used to hiding all these things and now I'm hiding them from you
Maybe I should just start telling you when I start feeling fantasies for someone else but I'm not sure what that would even do or how it would help I feel like it would just be hurting you constantly
Or maybe you don't even care
I dont know I just feel so guilty

Right before this, he also confessed to cheating on me with a partner of his from the past, and also admits to being a compulsive liar.



deleted_user_b0ec49532b49
I know but what can i do
I cant handle feeling guilty like this with literally everything i do every second of the day
This is why im always sleeping
I dont want to be awake
And i legitimately cannot tell [redacted] that i want to be with you
He would kill me
He would hurt me and i would kill myself
So everytime i talk to him regardless of anything we talk about i am lying to him
Because he trusts me that i am not doing anything affectionate or romantic with anyone else
I am literally lying to the both of you
And im too drained
I got mad at you today because this is legitimately
The only day ive felt like having a session
Or really doing fucking anything
For the first time in a week
And then you just come back and give zero shits about anything im doing
It fucking sucked
Now i just feel worse
Deleted User 8/23/2021 10:45 PM
I'm sorry
I need you
I dont know what I'm going to do i hate how I feel tugged back and forth between you Do you know how guilty I feel Sometimes he calls with me and then you get home and want to call
And I have to keep making up excuses in each call as to why I have to leave for a bit
I actually just can't mentally handle it
And it's like
I'm literally cheating on you
This is what cheaters do
But I can't stop

This information crushes me, because I'm literally there for him everyday and every second of free time I was spending with him, but it still wasn't enough. I knew that the relationship was basically over at this point, but I didn't know what to do. He was pretty much the only person I had at that point, I was isolated from the rest of the people in my life because being there for him took up so much of my time. I was so hurt, but I still wanted to be there for him, because I was afraid of what he would do if I wasn’t there to support him.

He would mention suicide daily, and each conversation we had like this I would try my best to be there for him and tell him that we would get through it together, because I was afraid of him hurting himself. I felt trapped, because I still cared for him, but I knew that things couldn’t go on the same for much longer, I was just terrified of what would happen if I ended things.The weird thing is that after each of these conversations the next morning or a few hours later, he would completely switch moods and not say anything about it. He would go back to being affectionate like normal.

And along with all of this by default i am too needy and too high maintinence
Its probably why my parents gave up on me
And let me isolate myself in this room for 6 years
Because i was just too much effort
You know the reason why we have a dog is because i stopped coming out of my room and it was meant to replace me
I dont ever think about it aside from right now
All along i just think of myself as a failed human being and someone who was never meant to be born on this planet but was anyways
I will always be lonely and i will always feel the pain i feel and there's no way around it and there's no reason to even try
You talking to me and becoming emotionally dependent on me is only going to hurt you
Even though all i want is you
Im not good or healthy for anyone
I litearlly lose feelings for everyone
And then the relationsihp is just grey but im still emotionally attached and cant leave
I dont know how to fix that I think its just me
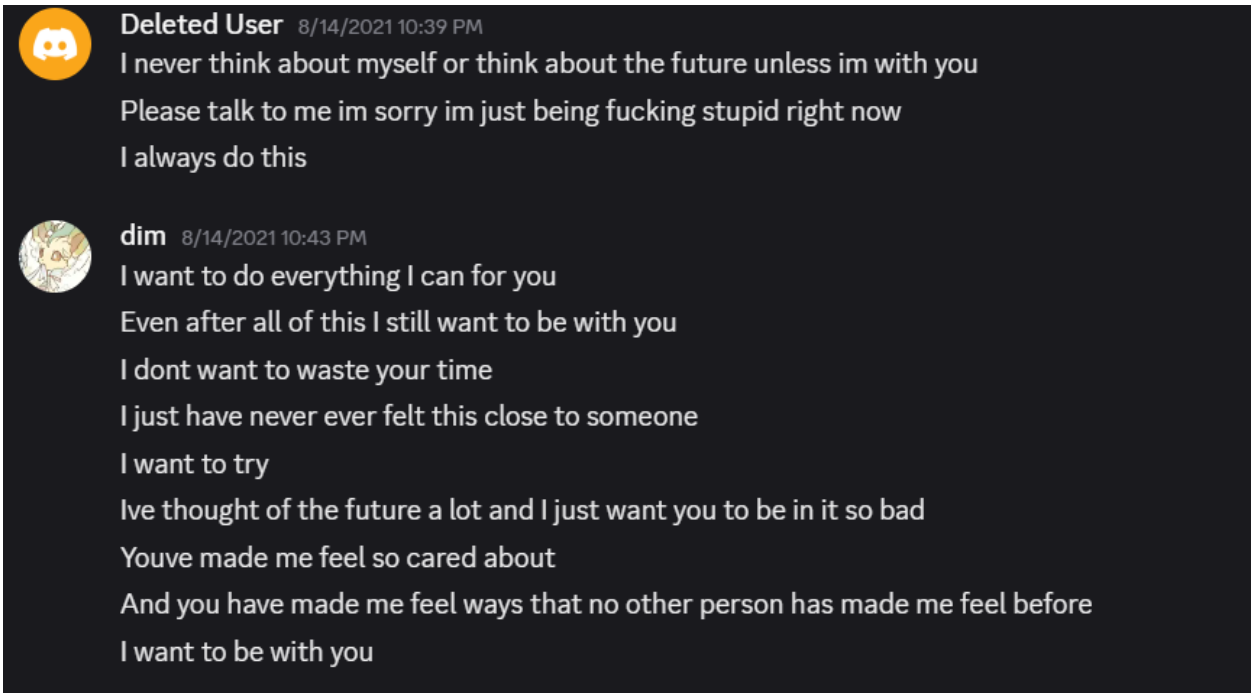
I wish i could live in the moment forever
So these feelings never have to fade and i can just be with you
I didnt know you had feelings for me that makes it so much harder becuase you have never done anything wrong to me and im just going to hurt you
I can deny it all i want but we are really in a relationship now with how close we have been
I can deny it in my head all i want and i can refuse to put a label on us all i want
I really mean it when i say i am so fucking scared of us



Deleted User 8/14/2021 10:39 PM

Please talk to me im sorry im just being fucking stupid right now
I always do this
dim 8/14/2021 10:43 PM
I want to do everything I can for you
Even after all of this I still want to be with you
I dont want to waste your time
I just have never ever felt this close to someone
I want to try
Ive thought of the future a lot and I just want you to be in it so bad Youve made me feel so cared about
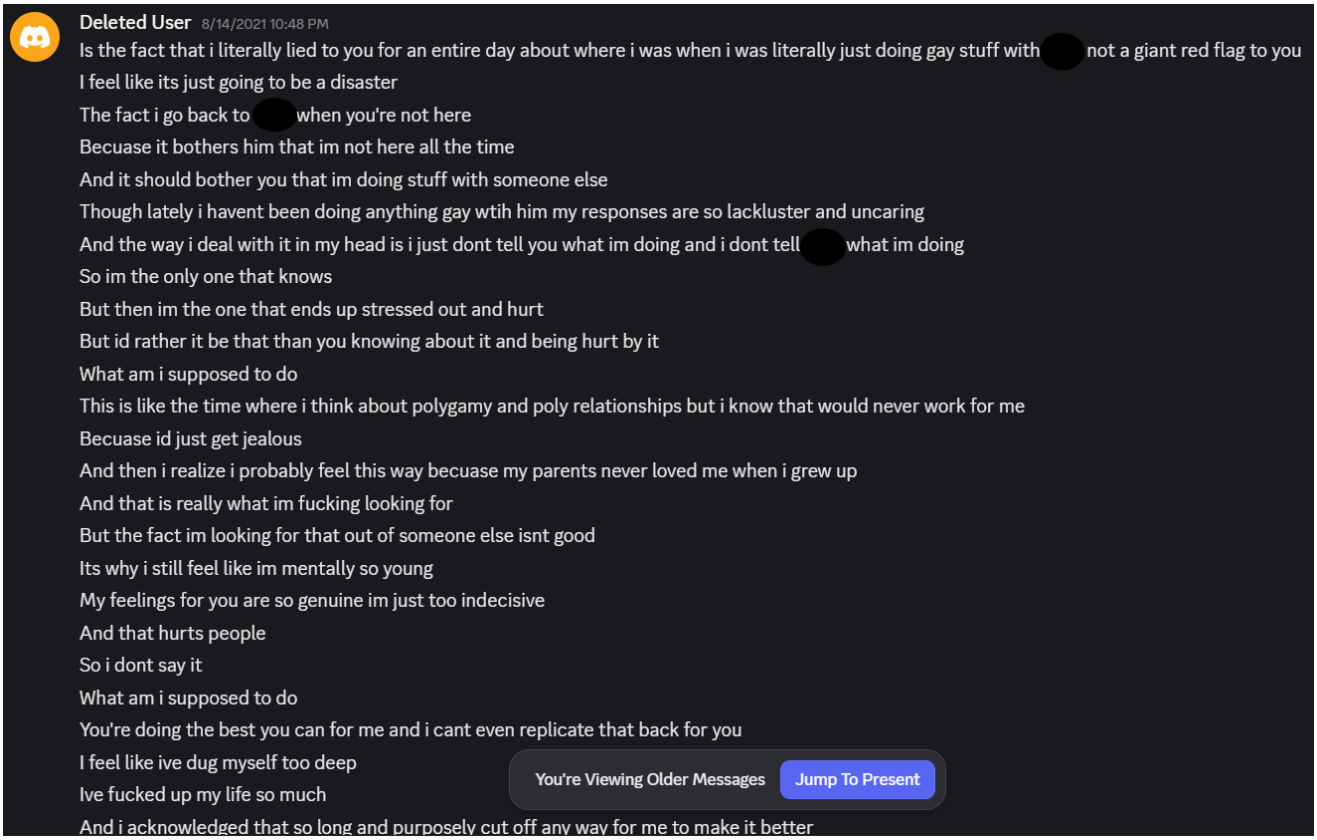
And you have made me feel ways that no other person has made me feel before
I want to be with you

Here he admits that he has gotten himself into a relationship with me, whether he wants to believe it or not.



Deleted User 8/14/2021 10:48 PM
Is the fact that i literally lied to you for an entire day about where i was when i was literally just doing gay stuff with [redacted] not a giant red flag to you
I feel like its just going to be a disaster
The fact i go back to [redacted] when you're not here
Becuase it bothers him that im not here all the time
And it should bother you that im doing stuff with someone else
Though lately i havent been doing anything gay wtih him my responses are so lackluster and uncaring
And the way i deal with it in my head is i just dont tell you what im doing and i dont tell [redacted] what im doing
So im the only one that knows
But then im the one that ends up stressed out and hurt
But id rather it be that than you knowing about it and being hurt by it
What am i supposed to do
This is like the time where i think about polygamy and poly relationships but i know that would never work for me
Becuase id just get jealous
And then i realize i probably feel this way becuase my parents never loved me when i grew up
And that is really what im fucking looking for
But the fact im looking for that out of someone else isnt good
Its why i still feel like im mentally so young
My feelings for you are so genuine im just too indecisive
And that hurts people
So i dont say it
What am i supposed to do
You're doing the best you can for me and i cant even replicate that back for you
I feel like ive dug myself too deep Ive fucked up my life so much
And i acknowledged that so long and purposely cut off any way for me to make it better

Then he goes and reverts back to thinking of me as a best friend instead of his romantic partner. At this point sexual stuff was rare, and wholesome romantic affection was even more rare. After he had initiated sexual conversations with me first, he says that it feels wrong and has no meaning anymore.

Deleted User 9/21/2021 7:52 AM
Ive tried really hard to view you as a romantic partner and not my best friend but it is so mentally draining and im not able to anymore
It just feels wrong
Idk just roleplay and sexual stuff i dont put much thought into anymore
And its sorta just like if you want to do it im open to it
But also it has no meaning to me anymore
Or i dont think too much about it I dont know how to explain it im really tired right now dim 9/21/2021 7:54 AM

I still want to do that stuff

Deleted User 9/21/2021 7:54 AM
I guess for me it just feels wrong doing that with my best friend
Maybe i just need time away
And ill feel differently
But i also cnat drag myself away
Because like i said on paper you give me everything i could want
Its not like i dont trust you or you dont make me happy
I just dont make myself happy
And i dont trust myself
And my views on things have just changed recently
Like in my mind its started to grow on me that there actually is nothing wrong with doing sexual things with other people while in a relationship

dim 10/3/2021 9:27 PM
im not going to cut off contact im too attached to do that i just want to know like whats actually going on and the truth about everything i feel so lost

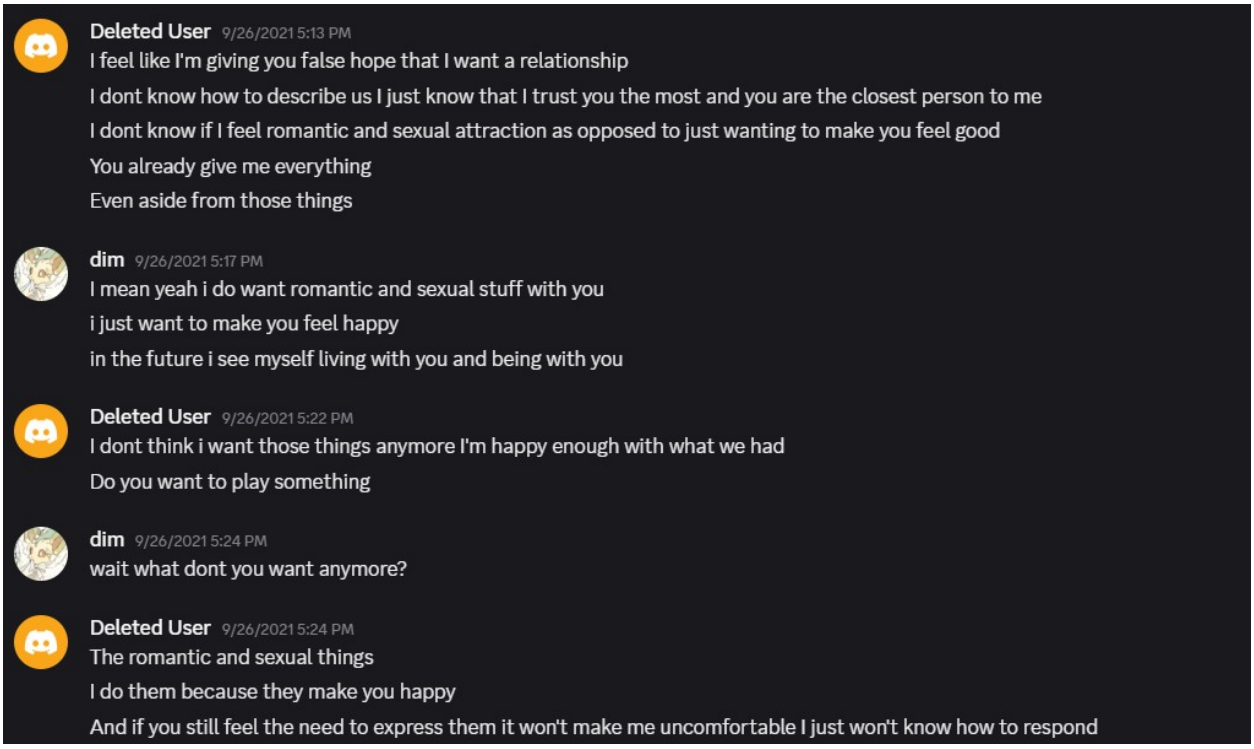
Deleted User 10/3/2021 9:30 PM
I always told you we could do relationship stuff but I didn't want the label because I knew it would negatively affect me and also the idea that this would happen and I would have more than one person that I do those things with
I kept trying to push this narrative on and off because I didn't want you to get too attached to me
That one time I cried in call this was what I was afraid of
I was afraid of me giving you up for something else and giving up the opportunity to be with you and losing you entirely because my brain can't have consistent feelings anymore e

dim 10/3/2021 9:32 PM
i just didnt see it coming
im sorry

Deleted User 10/3/2021 9:33 PM
I told you the truth the whole time I just hide what I do when I'm not talking to you
And I don't think it's important when I'm trying to tell you I don't want a relationship
And even comments like I don't live for the long term anymore



Deleted User 9/26/2021 5:13 PM
I feel like I'm giving you false hope that I want a relationship
I dont know how to describe us I just know that I trust you the most and you are the closest person to me
I dont know if I feel romantic and sexual attraction as opposed to just wanting to make you feel good
You already give me everything
Even aside from those things
dim 9/26/2021 5:17 PM
I mean yeah i do want romantic and sexual stuff with you i just want to make you feel happy in the future i see myself living with you and being with you
Deleted User 9/26/2021 5:22 PM
I dont think i want those things anymore I'm happy enough with what we had Do you want to play something
dim 9/26/2021 5:24 PM
wait what dont you want anymore?
Deleted User 9/26/2021 5:24 PM
The romantic and sexual things
I do them because they make you happy
And if you still feel the need to express them it won't make me uncomfortable I just won't know how to respond

He then tells me that he didn’t want the label on the relationship because it would negatively affect him and that he couldn’t be with just one person at a time. He also says that he was giving him false hope that he wanted a relationship, insinuating that he didn’t want one in the first place. He also says he only does the romantic and sexual things because they make me happy. However, he was the one who initially reached out sexually, and admitted and entertained the idea of a relationship himself. In the screenshots above and below he literally admits to being in a relationship with me and calling me his boyfriend. At this point it’s clear, he got what he wanted out of me, and he then used the excuse of not labeling it as a relationship to quickly escape without making himself feel bad, completely contradicting himself in his other messages.

Here is where he finally admits the scary truth. After 2 months of being with me, sex no longer feels satisfying for him, and to combat this he continuously goes behind my back to be sexual with other people, no matter who the person is, if he was in the mood, he would act on it, saying that he could be a pedophile himself.

It doesn't emotionally satisfy me anymore
I feel fucking guilty afterwards every time
Like for whatever reason now sex is so detached from any emotional meaning for me
I know if I were horny I would want to meet up with [redacted]gain just to have sex
Even though I know I would feel so guilty and terrible afterwards
I cant control myself
My decision making when I feel like that is so impaired
I dont know what to do
Like I've been thinking about this the past few days
And it sorta dawned on me that like
It genuinely would not matter to me who it is I do it with Like the idea of me turning into some pedophile is like
An actual reality
And I have zero fucking idea what to do about that because I become an entirely different person
Whwt can I even do
I'm sorry for laying this shit all on you at once

I dont consider serious consequences when im like that
dim 10/2/2021 11:38 PM
so have you been doing like sexual stuff with other people this week
Deleted User 10/2/2021 11:39 PM
Like 3 or 4 people
Ugh i feel so gross even sauying that Becuase its like Thats not me
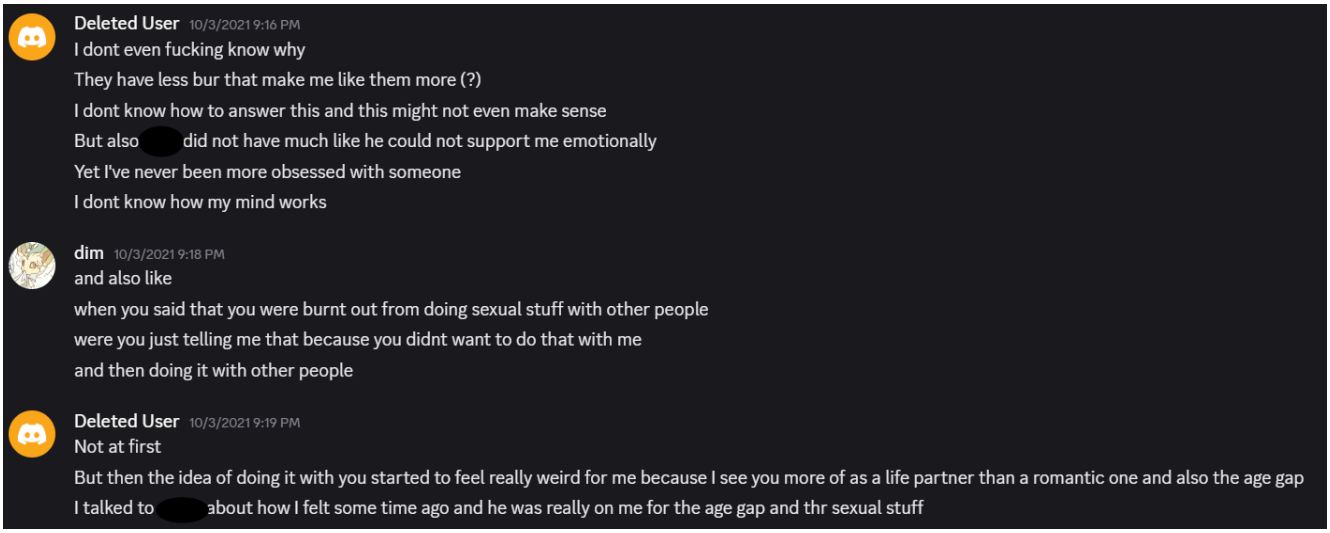
Im going to stay up and tell my mom tomorrow morning
And show her my marks
And just tell her that i have bene so unmotivated and lazy and i do fucking nothing and i dont even sleep anymore

This is the most disgusting part to me, how absolutely low he gets despite me trying my hardest for him, claiming that if he was in the mood, it would not matter to him to be sexual with someone underage. He also partially shifts the blame off of him and onto the antidepressants that he was taking. At this point the relationship was basically over. He had completely casted me aside, but I couldn't leave because he was the only person I had. I had devoted so much time to him that I hadn't spoke to any other friends in weeks.



Deleted User 10/3/2021 9:16 PM
I dont even fucking know why
They have less bur that make me like them more (?)
I dont know how to answer this and this might not even make sense
But also [redacted] did not have much like he could not support me emotionally
Yet I've never been more obsessed with someone I dont know how my mind works
dim 10/3/2021 9:18 PM
and also like when you said that you were burnt out from doing sexual stuff with other people were you just telling me that because you didnt want to do that with me and then doing it with other people
Deleted User 10/3/2021 9:19 PM
Not at first
But then the idea of doing it with you started to feel really weird for me because I see you more of as a life partner than a romantic one and also the age gap
I talked to [redacted] about how I felt some time ago and he was really on me for the age gap and thr sexual stuff

He then finds someone else while with me, being secretive around me and getting a lot more distant. He then breaks up with me for someone else. Yet he says he still would like to remain close with me, calling me a "life partner" rather than a romantic partner. He also says that we won't be any less close after this. This completely disregards my feelings and shows just how little respect he has for me. He is only staying this because he wants to keep me attached to him, he knows that I don't have many people at the moment and wants me still to be there for him and do things for him, just without providing anything for me.

I thought about a lot of things today and i think i really want to be with this other person, ive been so confused and lost for so long now and getting in relationships and leaving them but i think today i was able to clear my mind a bit and figure out what i really want
I feel really bad for all the hurt i caused through being confused about my emotions and what i felt at the time or what i wanted
Yet i still want to be the closest to you out of anyone else but i know you'll get upset baout it regardless
Today just made me realize that i want to have an actual commitment and focus on something instead of just aimlessly living my life

In this situation I don’t really want to focus on the cheating but rather the grooming and manipulation tactics he used. He initiated sexual conversations with me out of nowhere, allowed me to express sexual/romantic feelings and even expressed them back to me, without putting a label on them so he wouldn’t be liable for all the mistakes he made. Then once it got boring for him, he started going behind my back to do these sexual things with other people. He would come back to me telling how messed up he was, threatening suicide at times, I would comfort him, and then he would convince me that he would try to get better in the future. He would lie about what he was doing with other people because technically our relationship wasn’t “labeled”. This cycle of him constantly going to other people for sex led on for about another month, before he decided to pursue a relationship with someone else. At the time I didn’t even realize I had been groomed, I thought it was just a relationship that ended horribly. Looking back, seeing sam initially being sexual with me and watching the decline of our relationship as soon as he got enough sex just shows me what sam really wanted.

I would also like to mention how he brought up the age gap in the relationship being weird. This now looks like just an excuse to stop the relationship, as later he would lie to the 14 year old about his age, as well as get into a relationship with shiro, who would have an even bigger age gap with sam.

I should’ve shared my story with everyone to warn other people about getting into a relationship with him, but I wasn't even aware of how bad it was. I was so naive that I became friends with him again because I believed he wouldn’t do something like it again, and before I knew it he was inappropriately messaging a 14 year old. Then, almost a year later, while in a relationship with Reti/Augie (the person Sam left me for), Sam would ERP with another minor while he was almost 20, and the minor was 16-17.

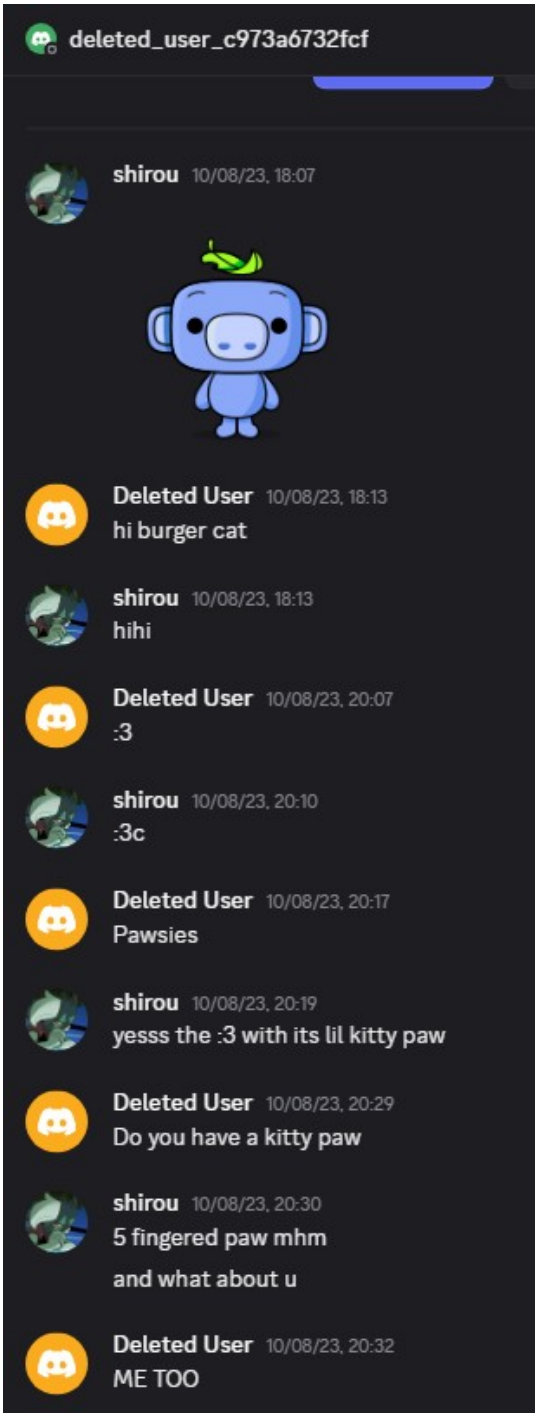
My Account

I was 16 when Sam first approached me. We were both members of the [Paw] clan discord server, and one day in August 2023 I randomly received a Twitter follow and Discord friend request from him. After accepting, the tone was immediately set by Sam acting “cutesy” and pushing the conversation in affectionate and sexual directions. In addition, keep in mind while reading through everything that until nearly January 2024, Sam had a partner.



We had never interacted prior to this. The messages carried on with Sam continuing to affection-bomb:

A little after this point, he added me on his other discord

Even at this point, despite multiple days of escalating affection and sexual messages, he still hadn't asked me my age. While I had not asked him either, I personally was under the impression that he was around my age, as he stated he wanted a job and to go to college. It would not be until after the second time we ERP'd together that he would ask my age.

You might be inclined to give Sam the benefit of the doubt, which I did for the longest time until I found out that this was far from the first time he had done this. In fact, he was even called out in the past for doing this. Both here and in the past, he claimed that he was just too easily pressured into affection, but you can see from the very first messages that he was the one who initially led the conversation in an affectionate/sexual direction.

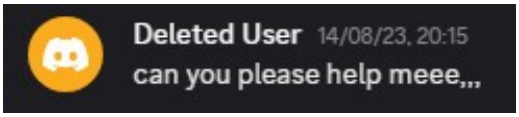
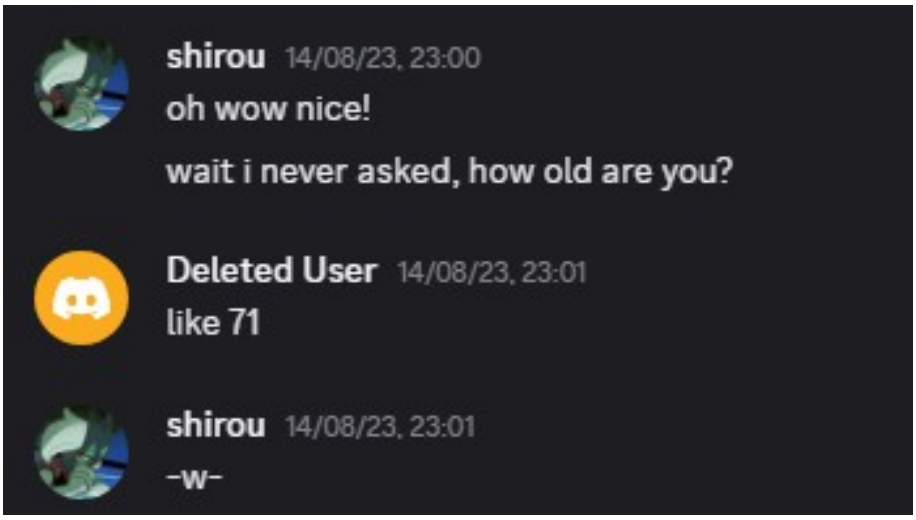
You get the point, I'm only putting it there to show it really happened.

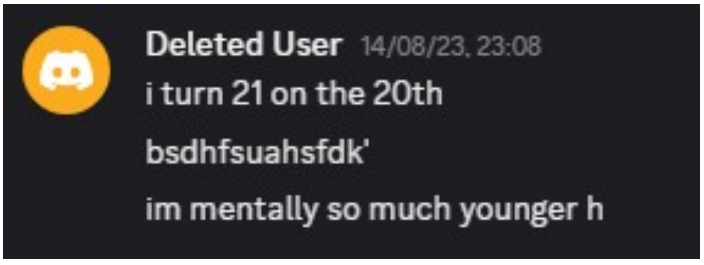
Obviously, I will not include the full logs of ERP. This was later that day:



Where we proceeded to ERP for a second time. Obviously I won't include those either. Eventually, after the second time we ERP'd, we ended up in a conversation where he implied he was going to college, so I asked his age, which he didn't tell me until some prodding:



Here's the real kicker:



Right after this, he told me his backstory, which I also won't include since it's not relevant. The topic of the age was completely forgotten about after that and the feelings of attachment I had to him were only amplified after this, since obviously it was told in such a way that made him look like a victim for years. I would come to find out much later that many parts were complete bullshit and told through an extremely distorted perspective. Sam would tell tales of abusive partners and stalking and harassment which I would come to accept as unquestionable truth for nearly the next two years, until I ended up talking to some of his exes after the breakup by pure chance.

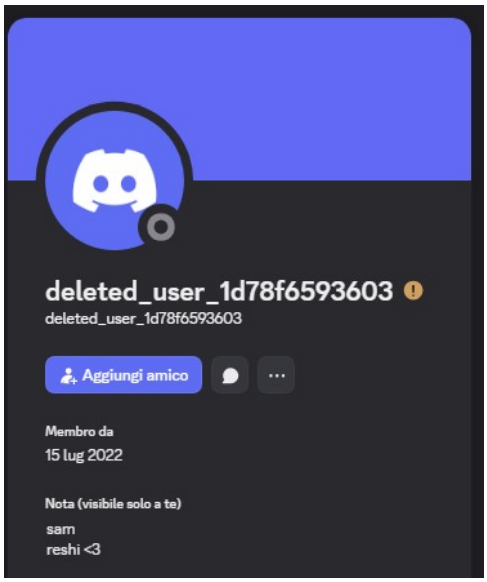
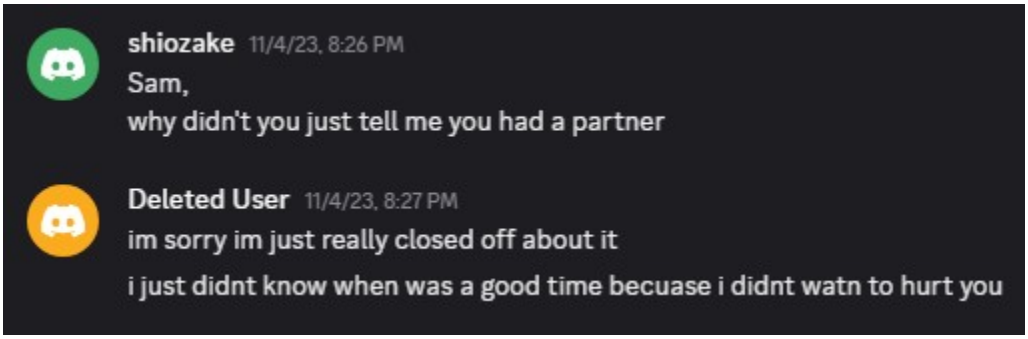
By this point though,

Again, yes this really is Sam:

(see next image)



(Yes, the note is still there, this is from an account I used before we broke up)
After the affection peaked, Sam pulled away drastically. Months later, I would find out that it was essentially since he was “done” with me sexually. He would claim that I was the one forcing affection on him and that he never meant/tried to lead me on, which is just blatantly false.
A couple months later, I found out he had a partner, not from him of course, but from the partner, who I started talking to by chance. I confronted him about it, and Sam claimed he was just reserved about it and spun it on me by saying he was just “waiting for a good time to tell me” and didn’t want to hurt my feelings:



shiozake 11/4/23, 8:26 PM
Sam,
why didn't you just tell me you had a partner
Deleted User 11/4/23, 8:27 PM
im sorry im just really closed off about it i just didnt know when was a good time becuase i didnt watn to hurt you

By this point I was far too gone, I had already applied to colleges near him to try and be close to him, since I was under the impression we would be together if I came out to him in Michigan. Later that night he guilted me more and passively threatened suicide, something he had already done in the past and would continue to do until even when we broke up. He would leverage suicide and self harm to guilt me and keep me trapped. Here is one example:

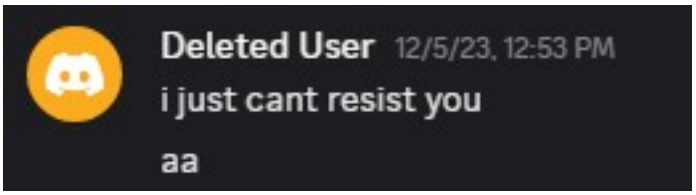
The next month was relatively uneventful as far as Sam and I went.

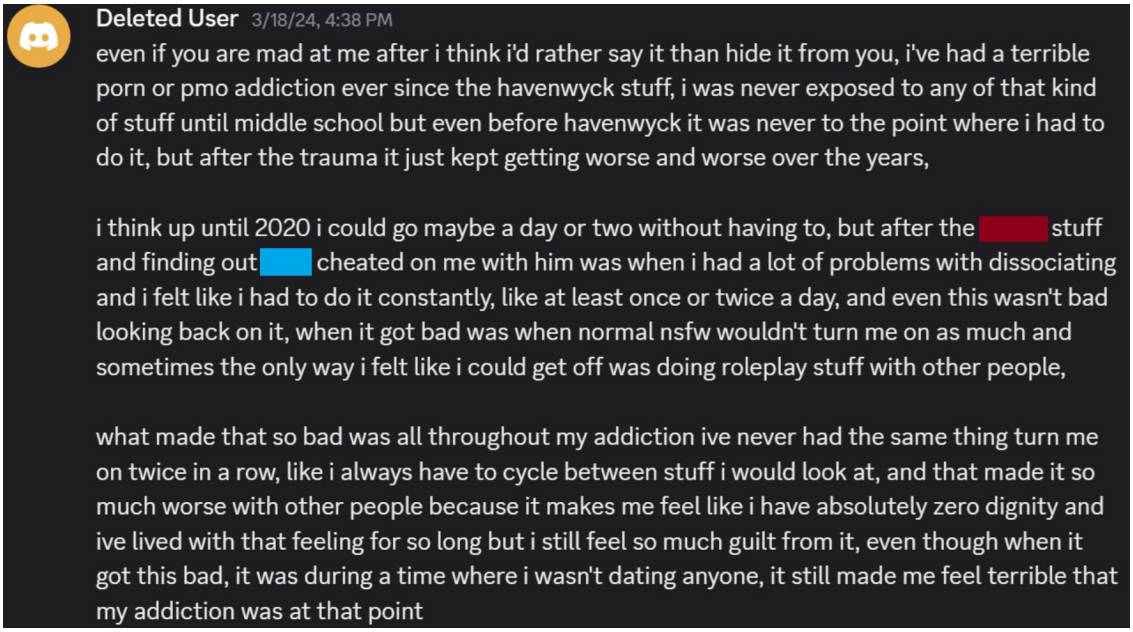
That all changed when we met up at the start of December. While we were there, we kissed and made out multiple times, all while he was still with his partner. It was from this meetup onward where we essentially began “pseudo-dating” where we were dating in every essence but title. He did not officially end things with his partner until around the end of the month, but things between them went unresolved until almost March.



We met up again in January, where we had sex. I was two months into being 17, and he was 21. I will note that nothing IRL was strictly illegal, as the age of consent is 17 in my home state (New York), but obviously in context the age gap is questionable. I would always reassure him about the gap, because in my mind our initial encounter and not asking ages was a genuine mistake. I had zero idea that he had a long history with this.

The next couple months consisted of us more or less dating, and in March Sam confessed to having an extreme, runaway porn addiction.

He explained:



Deleted User 3/18/24, 4:38 PM
even if you are mad at me after i think i'd rather say it than hide it from you, i've had a terrible porn or pmo addiction ever since the havenwyck stuff, i was never exposed to any of that kind of stuff until middle school but even before havenwyck it was never to the point where i had to do it, but after the trauma it just kept getting worse and worse over the years, i think up until 2020 i could go maybe a day or two without having to, but after the [redacted] stuff and finding out [redacted] cheated on me with him was when i had a lot of problems with dissociating and i felt like i had to do it constantly, like at least once or twice a day, and even this wasn't bad looking back on it, when it got bad was when normal nsfw wouldn't turn me on as much and sometimes the only way i felt like i could get off was doing roleplay stuff with other people, what made that so bad was all throughout my addiction ive never had the same thing turn me on twice in a row, like i always have to cycle between stuff i would look at, and that made it so much worse with other people because it makes me feel like i have absolutely zero dignity and ive lived with that feeling for so long but i still feel so much guilt from it, even though when it got this bad, it was during a time where i wasn't dating anyone, it still made me feel terrible that my addiction was at that point

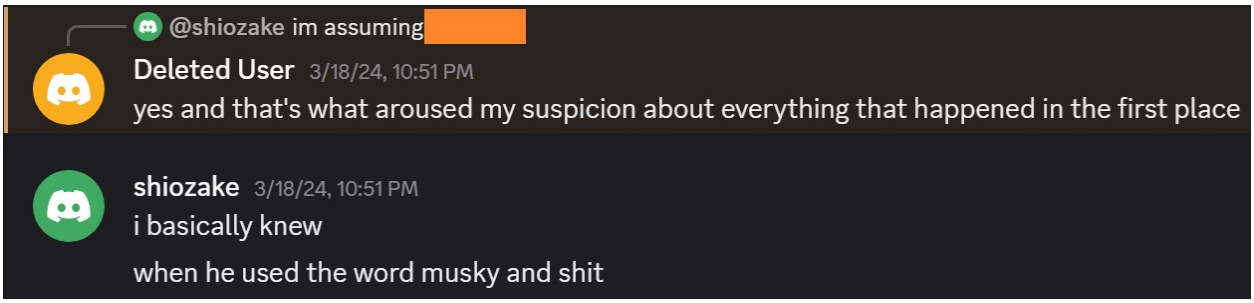
(By the way, “Blue” never cheated on Sam with “Red”. This was a construct in Sam’s distorted narrative, and was not actually true.)

This made it all clear to me the reason he had gone and reached out to me in the first place. This is why he drove it in a sexual direction, because he wanted me to be his next sexual hit.

By this point things started making sense. I had suspected something going on between him and “Orange”, a mutual friend, for some time, and my suspicions were proven correct when I asked him about it:



@shiozake im assuming [redacted]
Deleted User 3/18/24, 10:51 PM
yes and that's what aroused my suspicion about everything that happened in the first place
shiozake 3/18/24, 10:51 PM
i basically knew when he used the word musky and shit

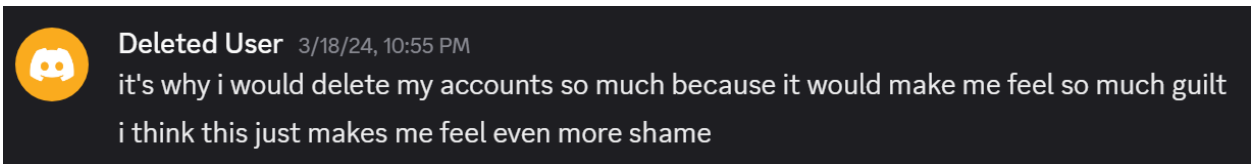
“Orange” was 16, and Sam consistently ERP’d with them over the course of at least 6 months. Later, when Sam would come to stay with me in New York, he would guilt me and threatened to leave me for not being comfortable with the idea of him and I meeting up with “Orange.” It was something he held against me the entire time.

In addition, if you are wondering why all these accounts are deleted, and they span numerous deleted accounts, yes, it is for the same reason:



Deleted User 3/18/24, 10:55 PM
it's why i would delete my accounts so much because it would make me feel so much guilt
i think this just makes me feel even more shame

Also, he claimed I was the first person he ever told in all his years about it. But you can clearly see from Dim’s account that that’s just a flat-out lie.

The next few weeks consisted of me trying to get him to jerk off less and to no avail. It is worth mentioning that throughout the whole time we pseudo-dated into officially dating, I don’t actually know just how many people he did this with. He directly confessed to two, “Orange” and “Yellow” (who I will talk about in a moment), and I only have marginal suspicions about a couple of others. The thing is, I don’t know just how many there were. The truth is, the amount of people he cheated on me, Reti, Diamond, and all his partners with, are in the dozens. And, many of those who he cheated with are his victims. Though I stated before, if you've made it this far, you have probably made the connection that Sam cheated on Diamond to get with Reti, then cheated on Reti to get with me, all the while ERPing with dozens of other people.

By this point, I was still well under his grasp. My mind wouldn't even let me consider the idea of breaking things off, and we continued to go on. I reassured him that everything would be fine and that I didn't hold it against him, in large part because I thought that this meant he would go on to better himself.

What happened next completely destroyed any shred of self confidence and integrity I had and set the stage for my biggest insecurity over the following year.

I would go on a class trip to Taiwan at the end of March into start of April, and due to time zones and being busy with trip activities there were not a lot of chances to talk. Not that it mattered, however, as he would be spending most of his time with "Yellow."

Over the course of the week and a half I was away, Sam would cheat on me continuously with Yellow and an entire drama would unfurl with one of Yellow’s friends, where Sam went completely off on them for some mundane reason that I genuinely cannot even remember. I remember seeing the screenshots later and even in my mental state of completely unquestioning loyalty to Sam not knowing what he was even inflamed by. (This was honestly a rather frequent occurrence with quite a few people).

So while I am on the other side of the world, Sam is threatening suicide and saying he had overdosed on sleeping pills, so the entire time I am in Taiwan I am constantly dying of anxiety and worrying about Sam. It was so bad that if Sam was awake it was pretty much guaranteed that I wouldn’t be able to eat because of the pits in my stomach. It was so bad that even my generally eccentric Chinese teacher noticed and asked me if I was okay. Ironically, after I had graduated high school and came back to visit 8 months later, while Sam had likely completely neglected or forgotten about what he had put me through, my teacher still remembered and asked me if everything ended up being okay.

The treatment I faced in the months that Sam and I pseudo-dated truly set my mental health up for disaster. While I had brought in baggage on account of trauma from my previous two relationships, none of that remotely compared to any moment on any given day with Sam.

I was constantly compared to his exes, who he would constantly describe as absolute scum of the Earth and reprehensible people. And it wasn’t ever over anything substantive.

Actually having talked to “White” now, I genuinely do not know where he was getting this from. Neither myself, White, or our friends can see really any parallels between White and I. Sam was truly pulling these out of nowhere, maybe just in an attempt to put me down more.

Toward the end of April 2024, Sam would come to stay with me and my parents in New York. And so now we finally arrive at the relationship itself. For the sake of my part already being as long as it is, and also for the sake of my own mental health, I won't talk at too much length about the relationship itself; I had to write my part for this document over the course of a few weeks, as I have severe trauma. Talking about everything with my therapist suggests genuine PTSD. And for the document, looking back at old conversations and seeing myself in various states of mental distress was not particularly healthy for me. I would see the countless amount of long messages of Sam berating me for everything I was doing wrong and I would begin to relive those moments, resulting in debilitating attacks of stress that I had never experienced from anything else before. I would end up curling up on the floor with my hands on my head crying and begging it to stop. Saying the relationship was not good is an understatement. I blamed myself for everything until even after the relationship ended, a testament to just how hard-wired his conditioning was. I endured what I and my therapist can only describe as "complete personality psychosis" where my own original personality was split and a new one took dominance as a sort of mental protector. If you have ever heard the psychological term "identification with the aggressor", that is a lot of what happened to me (I'll elaborate on this a little later). I unconsciously adopted certain personality traits of Sam, like ironically for instance, getting mad at rhythm games and taking them seriously, since that was something that affected me deeply. Sam would constantly get mad at rhythm games, and it would always feel like he took it out on me, and god forbid when I wasn’t able to get myself to take it seriously enough (as a result of a trauma response from my previous relationship, by the way) he would go off on me. If I didn’t show enough interest or enthusiasm in his incessant scoreposting to me, I knew I was going to get berated. Even when I desperately pleaded for a break from everything rhythm games he would continue to send me scores. This almost permanently ruined my relationship with rhythm games as a whole, and is only healing because of now being around the polar opposite kind of people from Sam. In the absence of that active trauma of Sam now, my altered personality has resolved, in absence of the “threat” that incites it in the first place. Looking back, it really began to split around the summer after Sam stayed with me and before I moved out to Michigan for college. From the link,

> In 2019, Yael Lahav, Anat Talmon, and Karni Ginzburg developed the Identification With the Aggressor Scale (IAS),[12] a self-reported questionnaire that assesses identification with the aggressor based on the theory of Sándor Ferenczi. Utilizing the IAS, various quantitative studies among survivors of child abuse and intimate partner violence have documented the phenomenon of identification with the aggressor and revealed its negative implications for survivors' well-being. These implications include dissociation,[12] self-injurious behavior, urges to harm others, violent acts toward others,[13] suicidal ideation and behavior,[14] willingness to return to an abusive relationship,[15] eating disorders,[16] feelings of guilt,[17] sexual re-victimization,[18] as well as PTSD and CPTSD.[19]

I endured every one of these implications except the urges to harm/be violent toward others.

For the sexual re-victimization, sex did not feel intimate with Sam whatsoever. I often felt raped and would dissociate during sex with him. I didn’t feel like I had the ability to say no. There were times when I tried to say no and I got guilted into doing it anyway.

Sam would not allow me to express my problems, and it all bottled up inside me. He accused me of not letting him speak about his own issues either, but this is just not true, as there are probably hundreds of long messages about everything he took issue with and everything he said I was doing wrong. Obviously, a lot was genuine issue, a lot owing due to my trauma, and the potential borderline personality disorder I developed out of it. But the thing is, being broken up now, my therapist and I agree that Sam was unquestionably the problem. I can count on one hand the amount of “BPD triggers”/responses I have had from the trauma from past relationships in the 5 months since the end of the relationship. Compare this to multiple times each day with Sam. Sam obsessed over the idea of me having BPD, and while I agreed it felt like me, instead of trying to sympathize or attempt to accommodate that, his response was to completely dehumanize me. He would say things like “people with BPD do X” or “what you’re doing is just because of your BPD.” I felt like a case study. By the end of it, I was just completely stoic. Completely dissociated 24/7, and clinically depressed for the first time since the 6th grade. For the first time since middle school, I self harmed. I slammed my hand into the corner of my desk, I picked up the serrated end of a tape dispenser and ran it over my knuckles, I picked up the sharp scissors and began cutting my arms. I was idealizing suicide. If not for the relationship ending around this point, if it continued the way it did, I might have genuinely taken my own life, something I had only considered once before. I am not a passively depressed person. That's how bad it was. When the relationship ended it was like this immense fog had lifted. The fog was so bad during the relationship I couldn't remember four digit 2FA codes. I would have to practically hold my phone next to the text box. After the breakup, that fog dissipated, and is still gone to this day.

After the breakup, I didn't even consider the possibility of reaching out to his exes, either, (besides Reti, who was my friend before everything), but by pure chance I ended up in a group chat with a couple of them, and my entire worldview that Sam had conditioned began to rapidly fall apart. I discovered that all the stories he had told me about them were either severely warped or just flat out fabricated.

Sam was beyond convinced that all his exes were stalking him and out to get him, but the reality is that basically none of them wanted anything to do with him. Sam would have delusions about reconnecting with them, which is insane as he would simultaneously decrie their existence, but none of those exes would have ever considered talking to him again. In reality, Sam was the stalker. He would constantly check in on those exes, look at all their accounts and follow every movement of theirs that he could. For example of how absurd, he knew exactly when “Blue”’s private twitter username changed. He did this to me as well after he broke up with me.

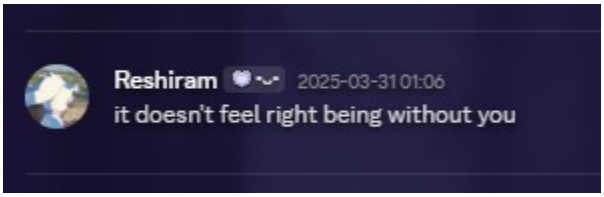
For context, my friend had a porn account, and they followed me on it by accident instead of their main. As a joke, I followed back, because I thought it was funny. And yes, it was genuinely a joke, I don’t look at porn. I found out that within half an hour of me following them, Sam knew. Which is just beyond absurd to me. Keep in mind, he had me blocked on Twitter since around a week before we even broke up.

Sam’s excuse was often that he had his exes blocked everywhere, so clearly he couldn’t be stalking them, which is just obviously not true. He might have me and many other of his exes blocked, but it doesn’t mean anything. We want nothing to do with him, but he will still stalk us relentlessly. Further, after I had become good friends with the group chat I joined (that contained a couple of his exes) we decided to do a collab on osu, I found out that he had found out within around two hours.

I am beyond glad that the relationship is over. I didn’t know it then, but it saved my life. I now talk to some of the most wonderful friends I have ever made, and I could not be more glad that things with Sam ended. I knew I would never have the strength to breakup with him myself, and I had already gone through so much anguish that by the time he broke up with me it was like it had already happened. He had pushed me away enough it was like no different anyways.

Less than a week after he broke up with me, he tried pulling me back in, and you can just sort of tell by my messages how numb I was:



Which I ignored, because I knew what he was trying to do. The following day he switched methods and got me to respond:

thanks for the blazing generalization I appreciate it sorry (edited)
I was never going to break up with you no matter how shit things got the only thing that would've made me end things is if you cheated again like I always told you you weren't some good feeling hell Sam quite frankly most of the time I felt pretty shitty just like you you were far from some dopamine high I genuinely loved you despite everything but you can believe whatever you want theres no point in trying to argue or convince you we're broken up what difference does it make now even if we got back together it'd be about 2 days before you start feeling miserable again even if I was completely healed of all my traumas because I know ill never have been good for you no matter how hard I tried

Sam is both a predator and a terrible person. I was by no means some perfect partner in the relationship, but I didn’t deserve the treatment I had. Being out of it now has stopped the constant self blame that I had for years. I was in denial of all of this even weeks after the relationship ended, but after learning just how deep this goes there is no denying anything anymore.

And if you think my experience with Sam is unique, you'd be damned. Every single one of us has endured this.

Thank you for reading if you made it this far.

Physical Abuse

During a random 2 am vc, I was in a call with Sam and another mutual friend of ours. The mutual friend was afk and Sam was just playing etterna when he got mad at a chart. He banged his hand on his desk and I heard his sister yelling outside his door most likely because the banging was loud and late at night, and the next thing I knew he was deafened. I sat in silence for a few minutes really confused at what happened. I was so dry in my responses to what he was saying because I was in shock at what happened. I had never witnessed him doing something like this, he had always talked to me and complained about his family life but I never expected something like that. He almost killed his sister over a video game.

The last screenshot is eerie to me because he moves on from that convo so fast, and just starts talking about etterna. He’s acting like his behavior is completely normal and justified.

The next instance of Sam's physical abuse is from years ago when he was 14-15. Unlike with his sister’s incident, the public knew about this, it gained a lot of traction in the Geometry Dash community and is one of the main reasons why he left the community altogether. You can still find people talking about it by searching YGYoshi on twitter, there was originally an expose video from a long time ago but it is now removed.

The rundown of what happened is pretty simple: Sam was on his pc, and his mom shut down the wifi. Sam then threatened his mom with a knife, saying he would kill her because she turned the internet off.

I can’t find the messages, but based on what I can remember of what Sam told me, he said he was a different person and he wouldn’t do something like that again. There were a bunch of people going around exposing him and witchhunting him, so he pretty much left the community for good after that happened.

If I were still a kid I'd make sure she doesn't do this shit ever again
I'd make her fear for her life every second like she does to me
And I hope my mom goes out of remission and fucking dies

Manipulation and lying

In addition to being a groomer and abuser, Sam is also a chronic liar and manipulator. He lies so much in order to save face/look good in situations where he’s been wrong. The screenshots below depict an instance where Sam was apologizing for putting me through hell years ago, saying he felt immense guilt from it, yet was telling the victim he was in a relationship with at the time that I was the one who pressured him into a relationship.

Reticent/Augie/sbwfrplaid

Hi, most of my followers and friends know me as Reticent or Reti, but I was formerly known as Augie and sbwfrplaid in other online spaces, mainly the osu!mania community. I would like to take over this part of the document to expose Sam’s manipulative and toxic side, even if it’s not as important to the picture nor as impactful as the grooming aspect. I want to clarify that I don’t hold grudges nor hate anyone involved even if I’ve been wronged deeply. I will mostly be talking about my relationship and personal experience with him in depth and lay out a followable timeline for any events that happened in the time I was with him. With that being said, I’ll start from the beginning of our friendship, where I was someone with a very limited online presence, ready to start college and a new chapter in my life. I met Sam at the start of July 2021, him being 18 and me 17, turning 18 in November of that year. After he’d followed me on my twitter consisting of 30-ish followers, he’d add me on Discord and talk to me there. I was fairly new to osu!mania, but those active during this time know how dominant his name was within the player space, so even if I didn’t have the smallest idea of how good he was at the game yet, his name and identity still held a lot of weight to any player that closely followed the game and that included myself.

Our early conversations would revolve around the game and his struggles with being a top player and the public perception of such, nothing out of the ordinary for the first week, until after around a week of silence after our first chat he would come back and have some conversations a bit more serious concerning his personal life and MWC 2021 and the stress it brought him, among other mania related things. I was not aware until he'd told me from his own word that he had a history with Geometry Dash and osu!standard, so my knowledge and perception of him mostly came from his mania accomplishments and what he'd publicly posted on his now deleted YouTube and Twitter.

I want to make it known before I continue with this next segment that I unfortunately don't have proof that any future conversations with his old account (iylwrychi) took place as I blocked him on that Discord account, as well as Discord wiped the message history on multiple other future alt accounts and won't allow me to view my message history on those let alone Sam's old, deleted profile. What I do have however is my message history with him from the very start of 2023 to the end of our relationship and friendship, though most of everything earlier than that, limited to my own experiences with him, is lost to time.

CW: Sexual conversations, ERP, self-harm, suicide

I intend to include these following details to show that there is a pattern to his behavior with other people and future love interests, as well as establish the complete tonal change he had with me upon finding other people to ERP with. Very early on Sam would try to incite sexual conversations with me through text, asking me about my smell and sweat and offering to sniff me, and I'd reciprocate very often if not every time. From this point forward he'd ask less about my days and how I was doing and would ask more to ERP and sext than anything, I was naïve enough to not completely understand what was happening even though I've had experiences with being groomed in the past by adults and people in positions of power. I didn't notice how one-sided and conditional the affection and love Sam gave me was, he was essentially love bombing me to provide sexual favors for him, and I was naïve enough to blindly provide that for him since he was a person I was very interested in and had genuine love and care for.

We'd play games together for hours on end and waste our whole days playing games like Minecraft and eventually Stardew Valley, and as time went on, I'd muster up the courage to ask him to be my partner in mid-October of 2021. I'd get a long message explaining essentially that he'd love to, but he had a loose end to tie up with someone, whom I'd later find out was DiamondParagon (I will be referring to them as Diamond from now on, and that they were in fact together during the time me and Sam had started ERPing and sexting [these details were only revealed months after the fact once I had become close friends with Diamond]). I eventually confronted him with this information, he'd plea to me that he felt "pressured" to get into and stay in his relationship with Diamond and since I genuinely believed he was acting in good faith I affirmed that I understood and told him once things were resolved I'd still want to be together. After this point we'd made the relationship official, and at no moment between this time (October 2021) and November 2023 did we ever truly agree to split or take a break from each other (this point will come up later as it involves a common manipulative tactic Sam employs). Very early on into our relationship it was apparent to me that I'd made a bad decision, between constant verbal degradation and toxicity to Diamond and myself (calling us stupid and sometimes r[redacted]d for minimal mistakes in video games we played together, taking otherwise light hearted jokes to heart and getting confrontational…) to threatening self-harm and even suicide at the presence of any argument or disagreement, it was a living nightmare that unfortunately drove me to relapse to cutting and self-harm in any way I could find.

This period lasted until the end of the year, I wouldn't talk about this trouble with anyone else as I didn't want any gossip to be spread around and potentially cause a falling out with my favorite person in the world despite him hurting me so much, and more importantly I didn't want him to find out I'd hurt myself, as he'd often mentioned he wanted someone mentally healthy and I also wanted to avoid him feeling any kind of guilt for hurting me, as I thought it was the last thing he needed while recovering from a toxic relationship. Things didn't get better for the rest of the year and most of 2022 as I didn't ever want to confront Sam out of fear of retaliation, others have often described talking to him like walking on eggshells but it's more like walking in a minefield with how easily things can be misinterpreted by him and lead him to build a narrative on why you're a bad person for having a certain opinion about a personal situation of his or simply had a bad or awkward interaction. We would sometimes get into a multitude of arguments over minimal disagreements that would lead to him ghosting me for days and expressing regret for being with me, making empty apologies every time after the events to try to keep me close to him.

I had never been a deeply paranoid person but I always had hunches about Sam, scared that he'd not only be cheating on me, but doing something that he wasn't supposed to, due to how secretive he was about who he talked to and the half-truths he'd often give me when it came to talking about certain situations of his past. Come January of 2022, I woke up one day to a multitude of hectic messages from Diamond, saying he needed to talk with me and to show me something. My worst fears had not only been confirmed, but reality was much worse than I'd ever anticipated, which caused me to spiral mentally and emotionally. Sam began talking to a 15-year-old, lying about his age to them for no good reason, and ERP'd with them at the age of 19. I didn't think things could get worse, until I got a similar reasoning as to why he did what he did. He'd explained to me through text that he was “pressured” by this minor to ERP. He should’ve known better by this point as he’s an adult, but I still foolishly thought he could have made an honest mistake, so after my confrontation with him I foolishly gave him a second chance to make things right. I was naïve enough at 18 to not realize the gravity of the situation and made a conscious effort to sweep this under the rug as anyone else finding out about this would mean his reputation would be tarnished. I’d become an enabler to his behavior without intending to, and I disgraced a victim to a groomer in the process.

After these events, Sam became much more distant in 2022, playing games alone and not wanting to call or text for days on end, which I was okay with but paranoid about, as I had a very strong fear that he’d repeat his offense if left unchecked. I tried my best to be there for him during this period despite everything, he’d claim I was the only person he talked to during these long days that he mostly spent alone. This period lasted around 3-4 months, however the rest of the year went decently as he would make an attempt to improve his life creating positive habits, these wouldn’t last longer than 2 months as is common with him, but the effort was very much appreciated from my end, as it meant that maybe there was care to be found within the toxicity I’d been living in, which would persist for the rest of our relationship. He would still threaten suicide often, buying sleeping pills from amazon and threatening to take them if we had any rough argument. At the end of the year, I saw a light at the end of the tunnel when he’d expressed a lot more love and care than usual. I was ready to turn a page and put the past behind me for a better future as I thought he'd been expressing the same desire from the very start of our relationship.

Once 2023 came around, things seemed to finally be getting better for a good amount of time, as we were on great terms for a long time and wouldn't have arguments as often nor were they as long-lasting or intense, but it's worth noting they would still happen. 2023 was a new beginning for both me and Sam, as we'd both decided to create alternate accounts with a different identity to our mania aliases, he would now go by Miro/mirodergy, and I would go by sbwfrplaid (Thanks to this, I had a very easy time finding screenshots from this time as I never blocked or lost his Miro discord account, however it's worth noting I will not scrub through our entire message history (~100k messages) for the sake of brevity and will only provide what's necessary to make my point clear). During this time, I had slowly been building a group of supportive friends that helped me understand the reality of the situation I was in, giving me very helpful advice and guidance through what felt like a year and a half of fog and a lack of direction. Though me and Sam were on great terms at the start of the year, around March I had found the courage to begin showing resistance to his toxicity and manipulation, and in response the circumstances of our relationship would of course get significantly worse. One conversation in February of 2023 stood out to me as I was compiling screenshots for this document, as it illustrated the nature of our relationship well.

First, some context; I had started branching out and messaging more people since late 2022 to revive my social life online and make new friends while also reconnecting with others I cared about very much. This did not mean that I'd tried to call anyone yet though, and prior to the first screenshot that I provided, I'd mentioned I wanted to call a friend for weeks at that point, letting Sam know that it was something that I wanted to do and was going to do at some point, since I know he doesn't do well with surprises (which he acknowledges in the screenshotted conversation). The day that I'd finally get the chance to call a close friend of mine had finally come, and I told him a day in advance that I'd planned this with my friend, even telling him who it was. Before the call though, I wanted to call Sam and spend time with him and reassure him that it would be okay.

Come back ;;

fish 2/22/23, 2:36 PM
i miss you so much

Deleted User 2/22/23, 3:29 PM
sorry
i feel really hurt

fish 2/22/23, 3:32 PM
Why?

Deleted User 2/22/23, 3:33 PM
i dont get the "you're the only one i hang out with" and "im going to call someone else today" why even say the first part if thats just not true

fish 2/22/23, 3:34 PM
It's my attempt at branching out and making friends that's the one time and one opportunity i'll be getting to hang out with a friend in what has been months of just you, which again i'm not complaining about because i love and adore every moment we get together, but i feel the need to branch out I'd told you i wanted to do this at least 2 months prior
So i don't feel this has come out of nowhere

Deleted User 2/22/23, 3:38 PM
you can go and do that but dont say that first part even if you're saying it to make me feel better you're directly contradicting yourself with this

fish 2/22/23, 3:39 PM
You're right, i'm sorry
i just wanted to say that to put things into perspective

Deleted User 2/22/23, 3:40 PM
theres other things you can say to make me feel better that aren't complete fibs if that was even your intention with saying that which in that context it was because you were trying to reassure me that you weren't doing anything late at night when you disconnect

fish 2/22/23, 3:42 PM
You're completely right i just don't know what to say when you're paranoid because i don't want to say something that will make you feel even more paranoid when the truth couldn't be further from what your paranoia is telling you
Because you've told me before that even if i show you my dms and even if i show you everything you'd still feel paranoid as mince would find ways to do shit behind your back
So the best thing i can do is reassure you and be here

Deleted User 2/22/23, 3:44 PM
but then you tell me you're just leaving later so thats not really being here i wouldnt know how much time i need to know in advance when you're leaving

fish 2/22/23, 3:44 PM
In about an hour and a half

Deleted User 2/22/23, 3:45 PM
thats not what i meant

fish 2/22/23, 3:45 PM
Though, i finished my studying while you've been away
What do you want to know?

Deleted User 2/22/23, 3:45 PM
i mean how long in advance i need to know that because telling me a few hours before you leave when im already not feeling well isnt it

fish 2/22/23, 3:46 PM
2 hours at most

Deleted User 2/22/23, 3:46 PM
and you can argue the fact i even need that implies my idea of normality and my schedule is way too tied around what you're doing at any given moment thats again not what i meant

fish 2/22/23, 3:46 PM
I'm just really confused

Deleted User 2/22/23, 3:46 PM
i dont get how else i can explain it because it makes sense what im trying to say yesterday i lierally talked about surprises and how i cant handle a sudden change in my normal schedule thats waht i mean i would not know how long i need in advance to know something like that so it doesnt stress me out but figuring out something like that isnt really possible and shouldn't be something you should deal with becuase its obnoxious so thats why i think its better i distance a bit it opens up the opportunity for you to branch out like you want to and the idea is that i distance myself enough that spending time with you is not a daily task that i feel like i need to rely on to feel a sense of normal

fish 2/22/23, 3:49 PM
I don't want to create distance though, cause again, i'd rather you face those feelings of paranoia head on and see nothing bad is going to happen nor am i going to betray you, but i don't decide that and that's alright and something i can live with
I just want to feel like we're a couple
I want to be able to feel your unconditional love

Deleted User 2/22/23, 3:49 PM
you want to feel that but have you ever even asked yourself if i feel that

fish 2/22/23, 3:50 PM
What
please don't tell me that means what i think it does

Deleted User 2/22/23, 3:51 PM
no it means that i spend more time worrying about how i need to adjust my sense of normality in the future to accommodate what you want and what you need instead of investing that time and energy into us as a couple there are a lot of things wrong in this relationship that you just can't see because none of the things that are wrong in this relationships are a result of you i learned its not good we entered this relationship with those feelings of paranoia and i believe i have genuinely no way of getting over that in this relationship at least this is all very difficult but ultimately its my fault i never addressed this clearly to you when we first started dating and instead pushed the problem away its difficult because you can't just sit here and hang out with me all day every day like you said you need to socialize with more people and that's a valid human need

> @Deleted User and i believe i have genuinely no way of getting over that in this relationship at least

fish 2/22/23, 3:54 PM
Why do you think so?

Deleted User 2/22/23, 3:55 PM
sorry i should not be doing this while you have college and studying and homework because you'll lose your shit again i dont even know why im saying all of this instead of just pretending like everything is okay like i have for the past 2 years

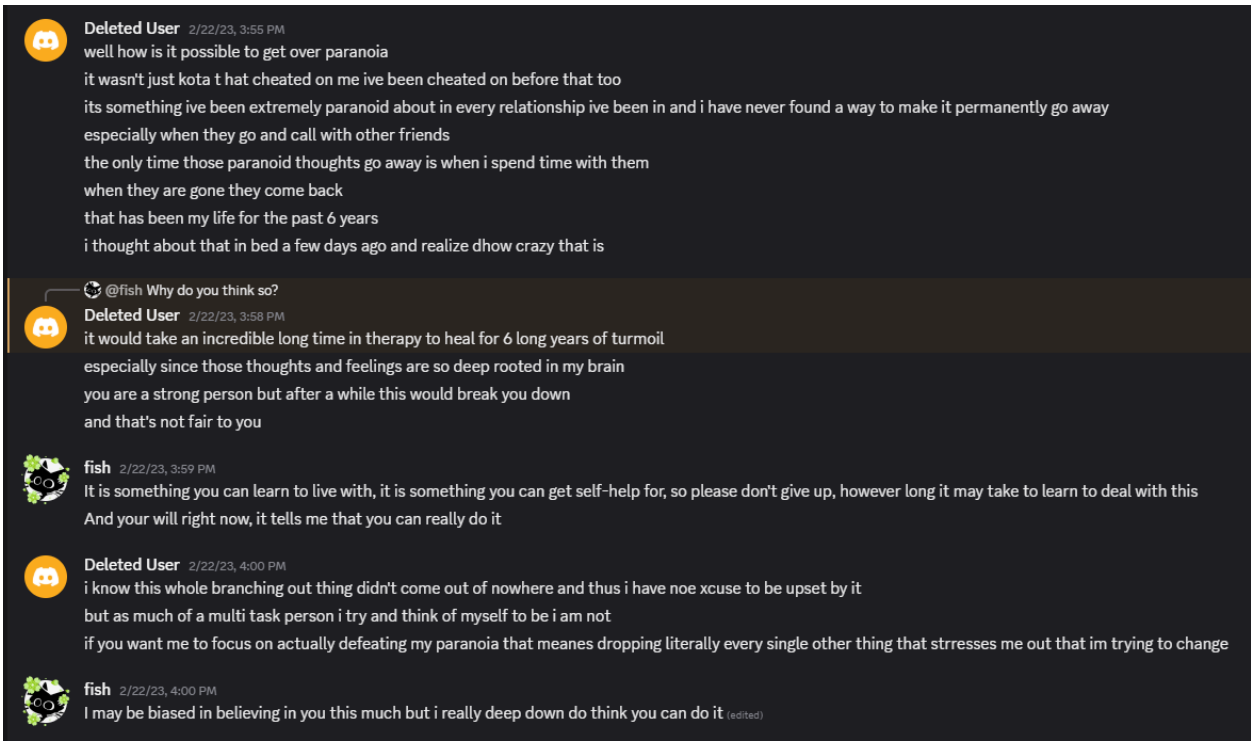
fish 2/22/23, 3:55 PM
I'm not having a bad day at all right now

Deleted User 2/22/23, 3:55 PM
becuase its just better that way

fish 2/22/23, 3:55 PM
I'm feeling good
I'm in a good optimistic mood



Deleted User 2/22/23, 3:55 PM
well how is it possible to get over paranoia it wasn't just kota t hat cheated on me ive been cheated on before that too its something ive been extremely paranoid about in every relationship ive been in and i have never found a way to make it permanently go away especially when they go and call with other friends the only time those paranoid thoughts go away is when i spend time with them when they are gone they come back that has been my life for the past 6 years i thought about that in bed a few days ago and realize dhow crazy that is @fish Why do you think so?
Deleted User 2/22/23, 3:58 PM
it would take an incredible long time in therapy to heal for 6 long years of turmoil especially since those thoughts and feelings are so deep rooted in my brain you are a strong person but after a while this would break you down and that's not fair to you
fish 2/22/23, 3:59 PM
It is something you can learn to live with, it is something you can get self-help for, so please don't give up, however long it may take to learn to deal with this
And your will right now, it tells me that you can really do it
Deleted User 2/22/23, 4:00 PM
i know this whole branching out thing didn't come out of nowhere and thus i have noe xcuse to be upset by it but as much of a multi task person i try and think of myself to be i am not if you want me to focus on actually defeating my paranoia that meanes dropping literally every single other thing that strresses me out that im trying to change
fish 2/22/23, 4:00 PM
I may be biased in believing in you this much but i really deep down do think you can do it (edited)

Throughout this conversation, it’s apparent that Sam wants control over my time and emotional attachment for him more than anything, feigning his understanding of my struggle with making friends and using the circumstances of the way our relationship started as a justification of his own actions in that moment. He tries getting me caught on my alleged lie of “I don’t hang out with people late at night after I disconnect from the call” and succeeds because I simply did not want to argue about this to him, as untrue as this was for the most part. Despite me submitting and telling him what I assume he wants, he continues pressing me with more issues, such as him not liking surprises as I’d mentioned earlier, which is ironic considering I had told him with a day of notice, not a few hours like he'd suggested, not to mention he would often appeal to my emotions to get what he wanted, and would not stop at harsh topics.

This next screenshot is after I had spent some time with the mentioned supportive group of friends that helped me with suggestions on how to navigate difficult situations with Sam, my main takeaway being that I needed to be more confrontational and direct, not seceding to his demands if he disrespected me.

Deleted User 3/11/23, 4:41 AM i just think we dont think the same in terms of long and short term you're very long term and im very short term b ut ive been spending the past few months breaking out of that and slowly focusing on my long term well being it just felt unfair when you started making arguments about how its fine you arent working on anything short term at all
Deleted User 3/11/23, 4:53 AM
I understand you have a lot on your plate and I don't want to pressure you to do more than you can handle Your future is important and will always and should always take priority over anything else fish I'm sorry if i said something terrible or completely out of character
Deleted User 3/11/23, 5:08 AM
You just started comparing the things I was saying to what your parents would say to you I forgot what it was exactly
And since you only zoned out this one time I'm supposed to just magically trust you won't do it again (edited)
But then simultaneously tell me you aren't willing to improve anything at all because you're "already doing enough"
So I was trying to argue that I don't care if you zone out, when I care is when you give me an exact time expectation of when you'll be back only to never meet it
You straight up just got so carried away with your friend that last time you know what that tells me
It tells me I should just go Because I'm keeping you from having that much fun that you get carried away with time
I have felt so insecure about myself since then
Deleted User 3/11/23, 5:17 AM
And after what you told me tonight I get the impression you're willing to contribute less effort to the relationship
If you're not as passionate about the relationship as I am I have absolutely zero reason to stick around Deleted User Your future is important and will always and should always take priority over anything else
fish 3/11/23, 8:06 AM
Not true, your life is equally important to me and us
fish 3/11/23, 8:23 AM
You're jumping to conclusions saying things like this i have NEVER shown this or anything of the sort through my actions Deleted User And after what you told me tonight I get the impression you're willing to contribute less effort to the relationship
fish 3/11/23, 8:25 AM
I'm willing to contribute everything to us if you really want me to improve my habits and they're affecting us this much but i remember last night i felt like i was being scolded by my parents (edited)
That's why i stopped talking last night and just fell asleep
I have no shelter to run to when it's my partner that i feel is scolding me Deleted User You straight up just got so carried away with your friend that last time you know what that tells me
fish 3/11/23, 8:28 AM
You said you'd overreacted over this though, why use it against me at a time like that Now it's just feeling like i have to be absolutely perfect in everything i do otherwise it'll affect our relationship in some way
What made it feel like i was being scolded like i child the most though was it being made a matter of respect
I'm not mad at you because you're absolutely right i should have said something
But the way i was treated didn't feel good at all

The night prior to this I had come back after a long day of studies and college work, and while we were calling during the night, though I don’t remember much, I had started speaking about my short-term and long-term goals which were misinterpreted and mischaracterized by him, which later led to him going on a long tirade about how I should treat my goals according to him because the way I was treating my goals was disrespectful to him. In response to this, I'd stop listening and unintentionally pass out in that call as I was very tired and had a very long day, which he was very unhappy with the following morning, thus starting the conversation above. You can see that he'd focus on any and everything else but the initial topic, bringing up not just flaws and bad habits I had mentioned I would work on as short-term improvements for myself, but simply time I spent with my friends. After waking up and reading his messages I simply expressed myself, though not as respectfully as I could have, I tried my best to be clear and direct. After my rebuttal, he "didn't know how to respond" and left the conversation at that, which discomforted me to the point I changed the subject so things could feel okay. Though I was managing his tactics better, I still couldn't help but continue to fall victim to his manipulative traps.

After this favorable outcome in March, the rest of the year remained somewhat the same until November, when I had a situation with him when we were planning to meet up. I will keep it short as this isn't important to the whole picture, as important as it may seem; we effectively broke up. The reason we broke up was the unpredictable nature of my own daily life which also happened to affect the date of our meetup, as well as my mother not really making anything easier for me, as much as she was willing to come with me and meet Sam. Post-“breakup”, Sam continued interacting with me as if we were still a couple under the gist of “not having a label”, and I’d reciprocate, as I still wanted to be a part of his life and make him happy, as naïve as that idea was. This is eerily similar to Diamond’s situation as he too had the same experience with Sam, feeling too emotionally attached to leave him because of the lack of a label to the relationship he and I had. I have screenshots from December of 2023 showing me and him still talking to each other as partners, which I’ll put down below. It is especially odd to me looking back, as he’d been talking with Shirou (still a minor) romantically during this time, which I was unaware of as Sam was dishonest to me about it as much as I gave him every opportunity to be honest.

Deleted User 12/10/23, 11:18 PM
i just wanted you to understand that i feel like i dont know what else to do
fish 12/10/23, 11:20 PM
By declaring you want to break up? Honey, you really really need time off from me to reflect on yourself and think about our relationship as a whole, to recover from the trauma of us not being able to meet up because that is not light at all
If the means for that is a breakup then i'm not going to stop you, i'm not going to hold you by a string and if you want to get with someone else in the future it's none of my business
Reflect on what you need Reflect on what you want
And reflect on whether i was good or bad for you
If i'm not what you want or need then seek that in any person, but i have to say they don't have to be your partner
Deleted User 12/10/23, 11:24 PM

Just a day after this conversation, Sam acknowledged he was leading me on and playing with my emotions to keep me wrapped around his thumb, being one of the very few times I felt he was completely sincere with me about his intentions and emotions, while at the same time suicide-baiting.

I don’t have very much to say about this screenshot except that this is textbook emotional manipulation and suicide baiting in the same screenshot.

I want to show one last screenshot to show you the person Sam is behind closed doors is very different from what he makes it seem publicly, he’s very mysterious about his persona because he does not want people to find out about how he truly is: toxic, tribalistic and insensible.

I don’t think I need to comment further on this screenshot besides contextualizing it, it truly speaks for itself. For context, this is a screenshot taken after he’d found out that someone he wanted to help had taken action against their abuser in a way he’d disagreed with. I’ve blurred their names out of respect for their privacy, as they’re not essential nor noteworthy to the story. It’s also worth mentioning that the past three screenshots I’ve shown were within the span of just 3 days in December.

Past this point, from early to mid 2024, I had made the decision to slowly distance myself from Sam and eventually blocked him on everything once we had a personal altercation during which he’d insult my character and person, which I didn’t tolerate even after being offered an apology. I’d later find out many more details that led me to write this part of the document, such as these messages sent to a 16-17 year old minor at the time, while he was still in a relationship with me.

Thus, my story with him ends, and I want to be very clear, avoid interacting with Sam in any way possible. Do not pay him any mind, do not give him any interaction on any social media, and do not reply to any messages or friend requests he may send you. You will dig yourself into a hole you thought impossible to dig yourself into, and before you know it, you're playing around in a minefield, completely blindfolded and unaware of where you're stepping.

Other strange and unreasonable behavior

so we're going to join during grand finals and blast the n word

The following screenshot shows his admission to playing part in an incident that occurred regarding the Meow Mania tournament. The basic explanation is the following: Sam and another party gained access to the tournament's twitch stream via their stream key and were going to hijack the stream during finals to blast the N word, but what ended up happening was much worse. In addition to blasting a South Park clip of Randy Marsh saying the N word, they also displayed animated pornography with audio, which could have led the twitch account to get banned. This lasted under a minute and the owner of the twitch account was able to stop the stream and delete the VOD. The incident made waves on Twitter, where people expressed confusion and heavy discomfort with what had transpired, some expressing they were even traumatised. This VOD was unfortunately not archived, though a clip of Sam laughing hysterically as this happened is currently floating around somewhere in a closed channel of his private Discord server.

Conclusion

Sam is not only a danger for victims online, but also physically dangerous, and it is imperative that we can spread the truth about him and his terrible actions he has done to multiple victims. Sam, typically maintains a very closed-off, private online life, but is now trying to slither his way back into communities such as SDVX. With him trying to find new people in this community, who knows how many other victims out there who he’s talking to. Sam cannot control his sexual urges around others and is very mentally ill. He should not be anywhere near public rhythm game events such as these, especially because of his status as a high-level player, because it gives him a platform to manipulate others easily. We must spread word on what he has done so that we can get rid of his platform and eliminate him from having any chance at grooming or abusing someone again.

A personal message to Sam:

I can’t believe you would throw everything away after finally attempting to get your life together. Everything you made me go through was for nothing, you never learned. I forgave you for hurting me, but I’ll never forgive you for continuing to hurt and groom others, after promising it would never happen again. It astonishes me that after apologizing to me for everything you put me through, that you would turn around and tell others that I was pressuring you for a relationship. What did you expect after initiating sexual stuff with me? I’m not gonna allow you to do this to anyone else, after 4 years you still haven’t learned your lesson. I thought you would know out of anybody, that what happens in the dark, always comes to light.

Our friendship and even romantic relationship may have been doomed from the very start, but you know I did everything in my power to help you every step of the way to bring you the help, motivation and presence you so desperately needed in your life. Little did I know you'd throw it all away within just a few weeks of us splitting. If you truly want to improve your life for the better, acknowledge your hedonistic lifestyle and predatory urges and make a conscious effort to apologize to the victims personally first, focus on yourself later. I truly think that everyone has a good side to them, but I can’t really say that I’ve seen that side of you ever before, I pray that changes and that you truly learn from your deliberate mistakes. I’ll leave you with a quote you must know well by now:

“Endings don’t last forever, but regrets last a lifetime”.
